POST OFFICE

[TABLES 1 TO 20, PAGES 7 TO 60]

(Figures supplied by the Postal Department)

Early history and progress

Until 1837 no general system of postal service existed in India : there were only certain services for the conveyance of letters and parcels instituted by Government for its own purposes, the use of which was conceded as a privilege to private persons. By Act XVII of 1837 a public post was established, and the right to convey letters for hire in the territories of the East India Company was made a monopoly and vested in the Government.

The organisation of the service was at first very imperfect. The presidency postmasters, as postmasters-general, supervised a certain number of provincial offices and provided for the conveyance of mails on a few main lines, while the collectors of districts had charge of district offices and local lines. There was no central authority to secure the co-operation of the postal officials of the several provinces or to maintain uniformity of practice. There were no postage stamps, and the charge, levied in cash, for the carriage of a letter varied according to weight and the distance it was carried. From Calcutta to Bombay the charge was one rupee per tola; from Calcutta to Agra twelve annas. In 1850 a Commission was appointed to report on the working of the post office and as a result Act XVII of 1837 was repealed by Act XVII of 1854. This Act, which marks the beginning of the present organisation of the post office, provided for the issue of postage stamps and prescribed rates for the conveyance of letters irrespective of distance, power being conferred on the Government to reduce the rates. A director-general of the post office was appointed for the whole of India; the office of postmaster-general was separated from that of presidency postmaster; postmasters-general were appointed for the direct administration of the services of the larger provinces; and deputy postmasters-general, at first designated chief inspectors, were appointed for the smaller provinces and the principal political agencies. A central office of account was established in Calcutta in 1861. The sorting of letters in transit by railway was introduced in 1864, and the sea post office for sorting letters in transit from Suez to Bombay was established in 1868. In 1875 the Postal Union was established for the regulation of the exchange of international correspondence, and in the following year British India joined it. The Act of 1854 was repealed by Act XIV of 1866 and this by Act VI of 1898 which is now the legal sanction for the working of the post office.

Letters and other articles carried

The main business of the post office is the conveyance and delivery of letters, postcards, newspapers, parcels and book-packets; and the total length of mail lines over which its work is carried on is 154,338 miles. Railway and steamer services now extend over 49,587 miles of this length, and the other 104,751 miles are worked by boats, mail-carts, horses, camels, and runners. The number of post offices is 17,777, of letter-boxes 41,648 (excluding those at post offices), and of postmen and village postmen 24,577. The number of letters, newspapers, packets, and parcels given out for delivery in 1907-08 amounted to over 826½ millions.

Parcel post

Before 1854 the post office undertook the carriage of parcels at rates varying with weight and distance, and this system was continued until, in 1870, rates were sanctioned varying only with weight and irrespective of distance. In 1873 arrangements were made for the carriage of parcels to and from England, and for their distribution and collection through the agency of the Peninsular and Oriental Steam Navigation Company. In 1885 an exchange of postal parcels was introduced between India and the United Kingdom through the agency of the British Post Office. In 1899 the Indian Post Office joined the International Parcel Post Union; and parcels are now exchanged by post between India and almost every country in the world.

Value-payable parcels

In 1877 the post office undertook to collect from the addressee the declared value of a parcel or registered article and to transmit the money to the sender. The extent to which this system is used by traders and their customers is indicated by the fact that in 1907-08—30 years after its introduction—the number of value-payable articles carried was 6,165,600 and the value declared for realisation was ₹7,64,28,473.

Insurance of letters and parcels

Since 1878 the post office has undertaken the insurance of letters and parcels. Until 1890 there was no limit to the sum for which an article could be insured; in that year the limit of ₹1,000 was fixed; but in December 1898 this limit was raised for registered letters and value-payable registered letters and registered parcels to ₹2,000, and the procedure in connection with the insurance of articles was simplified, the sender of an insured article being no longer required to declare its contents. The insurance fee was at first fixed at one-half per cent, but shortly afterwards it was reduced to one-quarter per cent, and in July 1905 it was further reduced to one-eighth per cent. The gross sum for which articles were insured by the post office in 1907-08 was R22,81,50,984.

Money orders

In 1880 the Government of India transferred from the treasuries to the post office the business of the issue and payment of money orders, with the result that within a few months the number of orders issued was quadrupled. The value of inland money orders issued has increased from R4,57,08,580 in 1880-81 to R38,26,61,854 in 1907-08. Special arrangements have been made to adapt the money order system to remittances of revenue, rent, and miscellaneous Government dues, and in several provinces the system is largely used for these purposes. The commission on inland money orders is 4 annas for each complete sum of R25 with lower rates of 1, 2, and 3 annas, respectively, for any sums or remainders not exceeding R5, R10, and R15. Foreign money orders are also exchanged with the principal countries of the world, the maximum limit of a rupee order being R600 and of a sterling order £40 except in a few cases in which the maximum limit is either £10 or £20.

In 1884 the Indian Post Office undertook the sale of British postal orders. Such orders, ranging in value from 6*d.* to 21*s.*, can now be exchanged with the greater part of the British Empire and used also for inland remittances.

Savings banks

In 1870 Government savings banks were established in connection with district treasuries. In 1882 sanction was given for the opening of savings banks at post offices, and three years later the closure of the treasury savings banks was ordered. In 1882-83 the number of depositors in the postal savings banks was 39,121 and the sum at their credit R27,96,730. By the end of 1907-08 the number of depositors had increased to 1,262,763 and the sum at their credit amounted to R15,18,14,343. The accounts of native depositors number 1,152,259, with a balance of R13,93,77,921 at credit, the remainder being held by Europeans and Eurasians. The post office undertakes on behalf of depositors the purchase and sale of Government promissory notes and the transfer of such notes to the Comptroller, Post Office, for custody on behalf of the purchaser.

Postal telegraphs

In 1883 many post offices were made receiving offices for the transmission of inland telegrams by post to the nearest telegraph office; and telegraph work was also undertaken by the post office in a certain number of offices. The number of telegraph offices has thus been largely increased, and out of 2,544 state (non-railway) telegraph offices on the 31st March 1908, 2,265 were postal telegraph offices. In 1907-08 the number of messages transmitted by receiving offices was 65,821, and the number of messages signalled by postal telegraph offices was 6,123,137 excluding 408,500 free messages.

Cart services

When the post office was first established its agency was largely utilised for the management of staging bungalows, the carriage of goods by bullock train, and the conveyance of passengers by palankeen, mail-cart, or parcel van. The extension of the railway system has to a great extent removed the need of these services and the post office now maintains and manages only a single passenger service—the one between Kalka and Simla. Many carriage and cart lines are, however, subsidised for the carriage of the mails.

Sale of stamps and quinine

The agency of the post office is used in several provinces for the sale of court-fee stamps and non-judicial stamps. Post offices in all the provinces also sell packets of quinine manufactured at the Government quinine factories.

Postal life insurance

In 1884 sanction was given to a scheme of life insurance, whereby an officer of the postal service is enabled to obtain a policy for a sum not exceeding R4,000 on the security of Government. In 1888 the scheme was extended to the Telegraph Department. In February 1898 the scheme was extended generally to all Government servants, who are subject to civil rules, and a system of Endowment Assurances was added to the scheme. By the end of 1907-08, 18,107 lives had been insured for the aggregate sum of R2,51,85,244, and the active policies outstanding were 15,458, of which 6,587 were held by post office servants and 8,871 by servants of other Departments.

Payment of military pensioners

In 1890 the post office undertook the payment of military pensioners in the Panjab at the post offices nearest their homes. The number of pensioners thus paid in 1907-08 was 33,143 and the aggregate sum paid to them R22,61,195.

Rates of postage, inland and foreign

Letters and postcards.—From 1854 to 1869 the lowest rate of postage on an inland letter was half an anna for a weight not exceeding a quarter of a tola. The weight was doubled in 1869, and the rate was half an anna for a weight not exceeding half a tola. This weight was further raised to three-quarters of a tola with effect from the 1st April 1905. Until October 1898 the rate on inland letters exceeding half a tola was one anna a tola, but it was then fixed at one anna for every one-and-a-half tolas. With effect from the 1st October 1907, the weights of letters allowed for ½ and 1 anna were raised from ¾ to 1 tola and from 1½ to 10 tolas respectively. Embossed envelopes bearing a half anna coloured impressed stamp and sold at the face value of the stamp without any charge for the envelopes were introduced in 1873. Formerly an additional charge was made for re-direction, equal to the postage paid when the letter was posted, but the additional charge was discontinued in 1877. The introduction of the inland postcard in 1879 gave a still lower rate of postage than that given by the rate of half an anna per half tola with an envelope supplied without charge. The inland postcard has from its introduction been priced at one pice (three pies) per single card and half an anna per reply card, the price in each case covering the cost of the card as well as postage.

Newspapers and packets.—The minimum postage on newspapers was originally one anna for 6 tolas of weight. This rate was lowered in 1866 to one anna for 10 tolas, in 1872 to half an anna for 10 tolas, and in 1895-96 to half an anna for 20 tolas. Additional privileges were also given to newspapers for which the postage for three months was prepaid in cash: if the weight of the newspaper did not exceed 3 tolas, postage was charged at 3 pies per copy; papers packed in bundles and sent to agents for sale were charged half the postage of single copies; and papers exchanged with other newspapers were carried free. From October 1898 these concessions were withdrawn, except that the quarter-anna rate was maintained for registered newspapers and the maximum weight to which this rate applies was raised to four tolas. A new system of "registering" publications as newspapers was introduced in January 1897, under which a "registered newspaper" of weight not exceeding twenty tolas is carried by the inland post for half an anna. From the 1st October 1898 till 1st January 1904, the inland rate for a registered newspaper not exceeding four tolas in weight was one-quarter of an anna and for every registered newspaper exceeding four tolas but not exceeding twenty tolas half an anna; and half an anna for every additional 20 tolas or part of that weight. Since the 1st January 1904 the maximum weight for a registered newspaper admissible for transmission through the post for one-quarter of an anna postage has been raised from 4 to 6 tolas.

The postage on packets other than newspapers was one anna for 10 tolas until 1877, when the rate was reduced to one anna per 10 tolas for book packets and two annas per 40 tolas for book packets and patterns. In 1878 the packet rate was lowered to half an anna per 10 tolas.

Parcels.—Before 1870 postage on parcels, all of which were registered, was charged according to distance, but in that year a uniform rate was fixed of three annas for 10 tolas. In 1873 the minimum charge was fixed at four annas for 20 tolas, but four years later it was raised to eight annas for 40 tolas. In 1880, the rates of postage were fixed at four annas for 20 tolas, eight annas for any weight exceeding 20 and up to 40 tolas, and four annas for each additional 40 tolas or part thereof. In August 1895, a system of unregistered parcels was introduced, under which parcels not exceeding 440 tolas in weight were charged for at the rate of two annas for the first 20 tolas and four annas for every additional 40 tolas. The present rates of postage, which came into force on the 1st October 1907, and which are applicable to all classes of parcels, are (1) in the case of parcels, not exceeding 440 tolas in weight, 2 annas for every 40 tolas or part of that weight; and (2) in the case of parcels exceeding 440 tolas in weight, R3 for a parcel not exceeding 480 tolas in weight, and 4 annas for every additional 40 tolas.

Registration fees.—The fee for registration, originally four annas, was reduced to two annas in 1879 for book and pattern packets. The reduction was extended in 1881 to letters and postcards, and from the 1st July 1901 the fee for the registration of a parcel was fixed at a uniform charge of 2 annas.

Official papers.—Until 1866 official correspondence was carried free under an official frank, and the departments were debited with the potage at the ordinary rates. This system was replaced by the use of service stamps for official correspondence, and the rates were reduced. Until October 1907 the rates were as follows:—letters not exceeding half a tola—half an anna; above half a tola to 10 tolas—one anna; and one anna for each additional 10 tolas up to 40 tolas; letters above 40 tolas in weight were charged as if they were private letters. With effect from the 1st October 1907, the postage rates for official letters, packets, and parcels are the ordinary rates for those articles.

Foreign postage.—Before 1892 the rates of postage on letters, postcards, and packets for foreign countries varied with the cost of transit and other considerations; but in that year the elementary union rates of postage were adopted by India for correspondence for all parts of the world, whether within or without the Postal Union. Those rates now are—for letters, 2½ annas for the first ounce and 1½ annas for every additional ounce; for postcards, single, 1 anna each; reply, 2 annas; for printed papers, half an anna per two ounces; for business papers entirely or partly in manuscript, 2½ annas for the first 10 ounces and half an anna for every 2 ounces additional; for samples, 1 anna for the first 4 ounces and half an anna for every 2 ounces additional. On the 25th December 1898 the rate for letters sent from British India to the United Kingdom and to certain British possessions was reduced to one anna for every half-ounce or fraction thereof. Since the 1st October 1907, however, the unit of weight for such letters has been raised to one ounce, and the rate which now applies to the United Kingdom and almost all British possessions is, therefore, one anna for every ounce or fraction thereof.

TELEGRAPHS

[TABLES 1 AND 2, PAGES 63 TO 65]

(Figures supplied by the Indian Telegraph Department)

After prolonged experiments Dr. W. B. O'Shaughnessy, Professor of Chemistry in the Medical College at Calcutta, obtained the sanction of the Government in 1851 to construct experimental lines from Calcutta to Diamond Harbour, a length of 82 miles, partly over head and partly underground. In 1852 the lines were extended over 3,050 miles, and by 1857 over 4,555 miles of wire.

On the 31st March 1908, 91,170 miles of wire and cable were maintained for railways and canals, 3,889 railway and canal offices were technically supervised by the Department, and 2,265 offices were worked by Postal Agency on behalf of the Telegraph Department.

The Department supplies the military telegraph and telephone systems, it has always a large number of British soldiers in training in telegraphy, and employs a proportion of the trained men in many of its offices, thus providing a reserve of trained military telegraphists for service in war. The Department also supplies private telegraph or telephone lines to the departments of Government, and, in places where their wants cannot be met by telephone companies, to municipalities and other local bodies, and also to private individuals.

Employment of Women.—In December 1907, the employment of women in the Telegraph Department as signallers was sanctioned by the Government of India for the first time. Subsequently, in February 1908, the sanction was extended to their employment as Booking Clerks in certain large offices as an experimental measure.

Wireless Telegraphy.—Communication by wireless telegraphy was established on the 10th February 1905 between Diamond Island and Port Blair, and was opened to the public without additional charge on the 1st October 1905. Similar communication was established in October 1905 between Saugor Island and the steam pilot vessel Fraser, but in April 1907 the experiment of working wireless direct from Calcutta to the pilot steam vessel situated at the Sandheads was tried and proved successful, and in consequence it was decided to permanently close the wireless telegraph office at Saugor Island.

Telegraph laws.—Act XIII of 1885 as amended by Act XI of 1888 repealing all earlier Acts (the first being XXXIV of 1854) deals with the privileges and powers of Government in respect to telegraphs, their authority to grant licenses for the establishment of telegraphs, and the regulations under which telegraphs are to be worked. They also provide and regulate the powers of the Department to place telegraph lines and posts on public and private lands, and declare the penalties for infringements of licenses, and for all other offences connected with telegraph lines, and with the transmission of telegrams. Rules and regulations for the acceptance, transmission and custody of telegrams are published from time to time in the Gazette of India by the Governor-General in Council, and have the force of law.

Tariff for inland telegrams.—The rates have been modified from time to time as follows :

From January 1872 till the end of 1903 the address was telegraphed free.

Tariff between India and Europe.—Through communication from India to Europe viâ Karáchi and the Persian Gulf was established on the 27th January 1865, and the cable route from Bombay viâ Aden and Suez was opened in the spring of 1870. The original tariff was £5 or R50 for messages of 20 words between India and the United Kingdom, which was reduced in 1868 to £2 17*s.* 6*d.* or R28-8 for 20 words. In 1871 this tariff was raised to £4 10*s.* or R45 for 20 words, and in 1875 a word rate was established at francs 5·50 viâ Suez or viâ Teheran, and francs 5 viâ Turkey. In 1885 the rates were reduced to francs 5 and 4·50, respectively. From the 1st

March 1902 the rates viâ Teheran and Suez were reduced to francs 3·125 or 2*s.* 6*d.* per word, and from the 1st January 1903 the charge viâ Turkey was reduced to 2*s.* 3*d.* per word. Since the 1st August 1905 the rates for cablegrams have been reduced to R1-6 viâ Turkey and R1-8 viâ Teheran and Suez.

Tariff between India and Australia.—By virtue of an agreement between the Federal Government of Australia and the Eastern Extension, Australasia, and China Telegraph Company, the rates between Australia on the one hand and certain countries in the East and Far East—including India, Burma, and Ceylon—on the other were reduced to a uniform rate of 3·125 frs. or R1-14 per word with effect from the 1st June 1903, before which the rate in force between India and Australia was 5·7708 frs. or R3-8 per word, and between Burma and Australia two annas more.

Progress of revenue and expenditure and of messages.—The revenue and expenditure of the Department and the number of messages sent, during the last five years, are entered in the table below :

The gross revenue of 1907-08 increased by nearly 8 lakhs, but the expenditure was higher by over 16 lakhs and the surplus of revenue over expenditure shows a decrease of 8½ lakhs in comparison with the figures of 1906-07. The increase in expenditure is due in part to the inclusion for the first time of charges against gratuities and the capitalised value of pensions, amounting to 5½ lakhs, and to increased printing and stationery charges consequent on the introduction of revised traffic methods throughout the Department.

RAILWAYS

[TABLES 1 TO 4, PAGES 68 TO 71]

(Compiled from the Administration Report on the Railways in India published by the Railway Board and the Financial Statement of the Government of India)

The figures in table No. 1 represent the result of the working of the railways in India as a whole.

Up to the close of the calendar year 1907, the capital outlay on open lines and lines partly open amounted to R39,843·15 lakhs as compared with R29,209·2 lakhs at the end of 1898, the increase in the ten years being 36 per cent., irrespective of the rise in the exchange value of the rupees. The number of miles open for traffic increased during the same period from 22,024 to 30,010 or 36 per cent. The outlay on lines wholly under construction amounted to R242·35 lakhs and on miscellaneous items connected with railways to R84·06 lakhs, the total capital outlay at the end of 1907 being R40,169·56 lakhs.

The gross earnings of all railways in 1907 were R47,26,87,000. The term "gross-earnings" includes earnings from passenger traffic and goods traffic which are shewn in the latter columns of the table No. 1, and also earnings under the heads of "other coaching traffic" (including earnings from passengers' luggage, military baggage, carriage of horses and dogs, parcels for the public and revenue, haulage and hire of post office vehicles, special train and parcels carried for the Postal Department and other miscellaneous items), "electric telegraph," and "steamboat and sundries." The average earnings for the last five years under these heads were "other coaching traffic" R1,65,65,600, "electric telegraph" R8,50,000, and "steamboat and sundries" R1,03,06,400. The gross earnings, the working expenses, and net earnings of railways taken as a whole have increased during the last 10 years by 72, 87, and 59 per cent, respectively.

The following railways shew net earnings of over a crore of rupees :

	R
East Indian	5,02,35,000
Great Indian Peninsula	3,23,41,000
North-Western	3,74,52,000
Rajputana-Malwa	1,49,69,000
Bengal-Nagpur	1,48,46,000
Bombay, Baroda and Central India	1,29,90,000

The average number of miles travelled by each class of passengers and the average rate charged per mile during 1907 were as follows :

	Average miles carried	Average rate charged per mile in pies
First class	100·89	13·06
Second class	70·91	5·76
Intermediate	59·29	3·05
Third class	39·65	2·28

The average rate for all descriptions of goods carried during 1907 was 5·18 pies per ton per mile. The average distance over which a ton of goods was carried was 174 miles.

The railways which carried in 1907 the largest number of passengers and the largest amount of goods were :

	Passengers (number)	Goods (million tons)
North-Western	39,910,000	5·24
East Indian	31,187,000	11·10
Great Indian Peninsula	29,529,000	4·45
Bombay, Baroda and Central India	28,673,000	2·27
South Indian	23,656,000	1·63
Eastern Bengal	24,225,000	3·27
Burma	17,571,000	1·55
Rajputana-Malwa	19,535,000	2·53

The chief commodities carried during 1907 were :

	Quantity (tons)	Earnings (R)
Grain and Pulse	11,278,344	7,58,21,258
Coal	12,191,075	3,18,55,101
Oil-seed	2,910,048	1,95,75,387
Sugar	1,780,798	1,39,15,566
Salt	1,902,792	1,14,37,290
Cotton, raw and manufactured	1,990,391	2,86,19,675
Jute	1,654,091	1,03,23,269
TOTAL	33,707,539	19,15,47,546

RAILWAYS—continued

The traffic in these commodities amounted during the past two years to about 70 per cent, both in weight and in earnings of the total traffic carried for the public. The total quantity of each commodity represents the total weight conveyed over all railways and does not represent the total production.

The results of chief railways per train mile run are compared below :

	Total earnings per train-mile	Total working expenses per train-mile	Net earnings per train-mile
	R	R	R
Bombay, Baroda and Central India	5·59	2·46	3·13
East Indian	4·34	1·73	2·61
Eastern Bengal	3·84	2·31	1·53
North-Western	3·89	2·00	1·89
Bengal-Nagpur	4·31	2·04	2·27
Great Indian Peninsula	3·83	2·05	1·78
Rajputana-Malwa	3·29	1·66	1·63
Bengal and North-Western	3·04	1·27	1·77
South Indian	3·09	1·51	1·58
Madras	4·10	2·75	1·35

Burma	3·09	1·96	1·13
Southern Mahratta	2·76	1·65	1·11

Table No. 2 shews the number of miles of railways open for traffic during each of the past 38 years. The open mileage on the 31st March 1908 was divided between the different gauges as follows :

Standard gauge	15,997	miles.
Metre „	12,784	„
Other gauges	1,505	„
TOTAL	30,286	„

The revenue shewn in table No. 3 includes the gross receipts of State railways, the net traffic receipt of guaranteed companies, and the repayment of advances of interest of subsidised companies. The expenditure represents the working expenses, interest and annuity charges of State railways and surplus profits, land and supervision charges for guaranteed and subsidised railways, and miscellaneous railway expenditure.

Up to the end of 1898-99 the railways in respect of which Government is financially responsible worked at a loss to the State, owing partly to the increased payments to certain guaranteed companies necessitated by the fall of exchange and partly to the yearly additions of new and undeveloped lines ; but with the termination of the guarantee of the Great Indian Peninsula Railway and the development of traffic, the revenue has exceeded the expenditure, the net results being :

1898-99	—93·02	lakhs of rupees
1899-1900	11·51	„ „
1900-01	48·77	„ „
1901-02	126·99	„ „
1902-03	34·34	„ „
1903-04	129·10	„ „
1904-05	315·82	„ „
1905-06	300·29	„ „
1906-07	346·15	„ „
1907-08	289·21	„ „

The total number of persons killed from all descriptions of accidents during 1907 was 1,834 against 1,614 in the previous year, and the number injured was 1,665 against 1,494. Out of a total of 306 millions of passengers travelling only 45 passengers were killed and 150 injured by causes beyond their control. This gives an average of one fatal casualty in 7 millions of persons travelling.

Below is a statement shewing the progress of Railways in India during the last 55 years :

* The decrease is due to the revision of the Capital outlay in consequence of the substitution of the actual expenditure incurred on the construction of lines purchased by the State from Guaranteed Railway Companies as shown in rupees in the accounts of these railways at date of purchase for the total purchase price converted at £1=R10, which was erroneously taken in stating the capital expenditure in previous Railway Administration Reports

IRRIGATION

[TABLES 1 TO 4, PAGES 74 TO 87]

(Compiled from the Government of India statements showing the financial results of Irrigation operations in India and the provincial reports on Irrigation.)

Financially considered, irrigation works are classed as "major" and "minor," the former being subdivided into (1) Productive and (2) Protective works.

The most important irrigation works in India are those classed as "Productive works" or works the capital cost of which has been wholly or mainly provided from loan funds in the expectation that they would prove directly remunerative and that the net revenue derived from them would fully cover all charges for interest within a reasonable time after their completion.

"Protective" irrigation works are those which have been sanctioned in consideration of their value as famine protective works, but without any expectation of their becoming directly remunerative. The cost of their construction has been met from the Famine Insurance grant. Capital and revenue accounts are kept for all major works and the revenue due to them, whether directly in the form of water rates and miscellaneous receipts or indirectly on account of enhancements of land revenue due to irrigation, is shewn in the Finance Accounts.

Minor works are of three classes, namely, (1) those for which capital and revenue accounts are kept. All expenditure incurred in the construction and development of minor irrigation works is met from the ordinary revenue. They are treated wholly as provincial in all provinces except Sind, Bombay, Baluchistan, Rajputana, the North-West Frontier Province, and the Panjab where all, with a few exceptions, are Imperial. (2) Such minor works for which only revenue accounts are kept, either because the works are too small or because they have not been constructed by Government which has simply undertaken their improvement or maintenance. They are credited with a share of the land revenue depending on their maintenance and are debited with all expenditure incurred on construction, extension, improvements, and maintenance. There is a third important class of minor works, chiefly existing in the Madras Presidency, for which neither capital nor revenue accounts are kept. The Madras works include over 28,000 tanks and 6,000 irrigation channels, the improvement and repair of which are executed by the Public Works Department or in the case of smaller works by civil officers.

In Bengal the navigation receipts have recently suffered from the competition of the railways. The Eastern Jumna Canal is the most remunerative work in the United Provinces. In the Panjab the greatest amount of net revenue is obtained on the Lower Chenab Canal which promises developments due to recent extension. The Sidhnai Canal is also very remunerative. The Lower Jhelum Canal worked on a loss until 1904-05 and its irrigation has not reached its normal development. The Godavari and Cauvery Delta Systems are the most remunerative works in Madras.

Table No. 4 gives the details of irrigation and navigation in each province in each year from 1903-04 to 1907-08. The details for 1907-08 may be summarised as follow :

POST OFFICE

[TABLES 1 TO 20, PAGES 7 TO 60]

(Figures supplied by the Postal Department)

Early history and progress

Until 1837 no general system of postal service existed in India : there were only certain services for the conveyance of letters and parcels instituted by Government for its own purposes, the use of which was conceded as a privilege to private persons. By Act XVII of 1837 a public post was established, and the right to convey letters for hire in the territories of the East India Company was made a monopoly and vested in the Government.

The organisation of the service was at first very imperfect. The presidency postmasters, as postmasters-general, supervised a certain number of provincial offices and provided for the conveyance of mails on a few main lines, while the collectors of districts had charge of district offices and local lines. There was no central authority to secure the co-operation of the postal officials of the several provinces or to maintain uniformity of practice. There were no postage stamps, and the charge, levied in cash, for the carriage of a letter varied according to weight and the distance it was carried. From Calcutta to Bombay the charge was one rupee per tola ; from Calcutta to Agra twelve annas. In 1850 a Commission was appointed to report on the working of the post office and as a result Act XVII of 1837 was repealed by Act XVII of 1854. This Act, which marks the beginning of the present organisation of the post office, provided for the issue of postage stamps and prescribed rates for the conveyance of letters irrespective of distance, power being conferred on the Government to reduce the rates. A director-general of the post office was appointed for the whole of India ; the office of postmaster-general was separated from that of presidency postmaster ; postmasters-general were appointed for the direct administration of the services of the larger provinces ; and deputy postmasters-general, at first designated chief inspectors, were appointed for the smaller provinces and the principal political agencies. A central office of account was established in Calcutta in 1861. The sorting of letters in transit by railway was introduced in 1864, and the sea post office for sorting letters in transit from Suez to Bombay was established in 1868. In 1875 the Postal Union was established for the regulation of the exchange of international correspondence, and in the following year British India joined it. The Act of 1854 was repealed by Act XIV of 1866 and this by Act VI of 1898 which is now the legal sanction for the working of the post office.

Letters and other articles carried

The main business of the post office is the conveyance and delivery of letters, postcards, newspapers, parcels and book-packets ; and the total length of mail lines over which its work is carried on is 156,633 miles. Railway and steamer services now extend over 50,611 miles of this length, and the other 106,022 miles are worked by boats, mail-carts, horses, camels, and runners. The number of post offices is 18,399, of letter-boxes 43,577 (excluding those at post offices), and of postmen and village postmen 24,970. The number of letters, newspapers, packets, and parcels given out for delivery in 1908-09 amounted to over 875 millions.

Parcel post

Before 1854 the post office undertook the carriage of parcels at rates varying with weight and distance, and this system was continued until, in 1870, rates were sanctioned varying only with weight, and irrespective of distance. In 1873 arrangements were made for the carriage of parcels to and from England, and for their distribution and collection through the agency of the Peninsular and Oriental Steam Navigation Company. In 1885 an exchange of postal parcels was introduced between India and the United Kingdom through the agency of the British Post Office. In 1899 the Indian Post Office joined the International Parcel Post Union ; and parcels are now exchanged by post between India and almost every country in the world.

Value-payable parcels

In 1877 the post office undertook to collect from the addressee the declared value of a parcel or registered article and to transmit the money to the sender. The extent to which this system is used by traders and their customers is indicated by the fact that in 1908-09—31 years after its introduction—the number of value-payable articles carried was 6,393,575 and the value declared for realisation was R7,66,63,674.

Insurance of letters and parcels

Since 1878 the post office has undertaken the insurance of letters and parcels. Until 1890 there was no limit to the sum for which an article could be insured ; in that year the limit of R1,000 was fixed ; but in December 1898 this limit was raised for registered letters and value-payable registered letters and registered parcels to R2,000, and the procedure in connection with the insurance of articles was simplified, the sender of an insured article being no longer required to declare its contents. The insurance fee was at first fixed at one-half per cent, but shortly afterwards it was reduced to one-quarter per cent, and in July 1905 it was further reduced.

to one-eighth per cent. The gross sum for which articles were insured by the post office in 1908-09 was R23,29,45,122.

Money orders

In 1880 the Government of India transferred from the treasuries to the post office the business of the issue and payment of money orders, with the result that within a few months the number of orders issued was quadrupled. The value of inland money orders issued has increased from R4,57,08,580 in 1880-81 to R39,40,31,137 in 1908-09. Special arrangements have been made to adapt the money order system to remittances of revenue, rent, and miscellaneous Government dues, and in several provinces the system is largely used for these purposes. The commission on inland money orders is 4 annas for each complete sum of R25 with lower rates of 1, 2, and 3 annas, respectively, for any sums or remainders not exceeding R5, R10, and R15. Foreign money orders are also exchanged with the principal countries of the world, the maximum limit of a rupee order being R600 and of a sterling order £40 except in a few cases in which the maximum limit is either £10 or £20.

In 1884 the Indian Post Office undertook the sale of British postal orders. Such orders, ranging in value from 6*d.* to 21*s.*, can now be exchanged with the greater part of the British Empire and used also for inland remittances.

Savings banks

In 1870 Government savings banks were established in connection with district treasuries. In 1882 sanction was given for the opening of savings banks at post offices, and three years later the closure of the treasury savings banks was ordered. In 1882-83 the number of depositors in the postal savings banks was 39,121 and the sum at their credit R27,96,730. By the end of 1908-09 the number of depositors had increased to 1,318,632 and the sum at their credit amounted to R15,23,41,513. The accounts of native depositors number 1,202,798, with a balance of R14,00,91,913 at credit, the remainder being held by Europeans and Eurasians. The post office undertakes on behalf of depositors the purchase and sale of Government promissory notes and the transfer of such notes to the Comptroller, Post Office, for custody on behalf of the purchaser.

Postal telegraphs

In 1883 many post offices were made receiving offices for the transmission of inland telegrams by post to the nearest telegraph office; and telegraph work was also undertaken by the post office in a certain number of offices. The number of telegraph offices has thus been largely increased, and out of 2,658 state (non-railway) telegraph offices on the 31st March 1909, 2,378 were postal telegraph offices. In 1908-09 the number of messages transmitted by receiving offices was 56,956 and the number of messages signalled by postal telegraph offices was 5,754,069 excluding 275,193 free messages.

Cart services

When the post office was first established its agency was largely utilised for the management of staging bungalows, the carriage of goods by bullock train, and the conveyance of passengers by palankeen, mail-cart, or parcel van. The extension of the railway system has to a great extent removed the need of these services and the post office now maintains and manages only a single passenger service—the one between Kalka and Simla. Many carriage and cart lines are, however, subsidised for the carriage of the mails.

Sale of stamps and quinine

The agency of the post office is used in several provinces for the sale of court-fee stamps and non-judicial stamps. Post offices in all the provinces also sell packets of quinine manufactured at the Government quinine factories.

Postal life insurance

In 1884 sanction was given to a scheme of life insurance, whereby an officer of the postal service is enabled to obtain a policy for a sum not exceeding R4,000 on the security of Government. In 1888 the scheme was extended to the Telegraph Department. In February 1898 the scheme was extended generally to all Government servants, who are subject to civil rules, and a system of Endowment Assurances was added to the scheme. By the end of 1908-09, 20,772 lives had been insured for the aggregate sum of R2,85,02,049, and the active policies outstanding were 17,621, of which 7,660 were held by post office servants and 9,961 by servants of other Departments.

Payment of military pensioners

In 1890 the post office undertook the payment of military pensioners in the Panjab at the post offices nearest their homes. The number of pensioners thus paid in 1908-09 was 35,387 and the aggregate sum paid to them R24,08,362.

Rates of postage, inland and foreign

Letters and postcards,—From 1854 to 1869 the lowest rate of postage on an inland letter was half an anna for a weight not exceeding a quarter of a tola. The weight was doubled in 1869, and the rate was half an anna for a weight not exceeding half a tola. This weight was further raised to three-quarters of a tola with effect from the 1st April 1905. Until October 1898 the rate on inland letters exceeding half a tola was one anna a tola, but it was then fixed at one anna for every one-and-a-half tolas. With effect from the 1st October 1907, the weights of letters allowed for ½ and 1 anna were raised from ¾ to 1 tola and from 1½ to 10 tolas respectively. Embossed envelopes bearing a half anna coloured impressed stamp and sold at the face value of the stamp without any charge for the envelopes were introduced in 1873. Formerly an additional charge was made for re-direction, equal to the postage paid when the letter was posted, but the additional charge was discontinued in 1877. The introduction of the inland postcard in 1879 gave a still lower rate of postage than that given by the rate of half an anna per half tola with an envelope supplied without charge. The inland postcard has from its introduction been priced at one pice (three pies) per single card and half an anna per reply card, the price in each case covering the cost of the card as well as postage.

Newspapers and packets.—The minimum postage on newspapers was originally one anna for 6 tolas of weight. This rate was lowered in 1866 to one anna for 10 tolas, in 1872 to half an anna for 10 tolas, and in 1895-96 to half an anna for 20 tolas. Additional privileges were also given to newspapers for which the postage for three months was prepaid in cash: if the weight of the newspaper did not exceed 3 tolas, postage was charged at 3 pies per copy; papers packed in bundles and sent to agents for sale were charged half the postage of single copies; and papers exchanged with other newspapers were carried free. From October 1898 these concessions were withdrawn, except that the quarter-anna rate was maintained for registered newspapers and the maximum weight to which this rate applies was raised to four tolas. A new system of "registering" publications as newspapers was introduced in January 1897, under which a "registered newspaper" of weight not exceeding twenty tolas is carried by the inland post for half an anna. From the 1st October 1898 till 1st January 1904, the inland rate for a registered newspaper not exceeding four tolas in weight was one-quarter of an anna and for every registered newspaper exceeding four tolas but not exceeding twenty tolas half an anna; and half an anna for every additional 20 tolas or part of that weight. From the 1st January 1904 the maximum weight for a registered newspaper admissible for transmission through the post for one-quarter of an anna postage was raised from 4 to 6 tolas. This weight has been further raised, since the 1st October 1908, from 6 to 8 tolas, concurrently with an increase from 20 to 40 tolas in the maximum weight admissible for half-an-anna postage.

The postage on packets other than newspapers was one anna for 10 tolas until 1877, when the rate was reduced to one anna per 10 tolas for book packets and two annas per 40 tolas for book packets and patterns. In 1878 the packet rate was lowered to half an anna per 10 tolas.

Parcels.—Before 1870 postage on parcels, all of which were registered, was charged according to distance, but in that year a uniform rate was fixed of three annas for 10 tolas. In 1873 the minimum charge was fixed at four annas for 20 tolas, but four years later it was raised to eight annas for 40 tolas. In 1880, the rates of postage were fixed at four annas for 20 tolas, eight annas for any weight exceeding 20 and up to 40 tolas, and four annas for each additional 40 tolas or part thereof. In August 1895, a system of unregistered parcels was introduced, under which parcels not exceeding 440 tolas in weight were charged for at the rate of two annas for the first 20 tolas and four annas for every additional 40 tolas. The present rates of postage, which came into force on the 1st October 1907, and which are applicable to all classes of parcels, are (1) in the case of parcels not exceeding 440 tolas in weight, 2 annas for every 40 tolas or part of that weight; and (2) in the case of parcels exceeding 440 tolas in weight, R3 for a parcel not exceeding 480 tolas in weight, and 4 annas for every additional 40 tolas.

Registration fees.—The fee for registration, originally four annas, was reduced to two annas in 1879 for book and pattern packets. The reduction was extended in 1881 to letters and postcards, and from the 1st July 1901 the fee for the registration of a parcel was fixed at a uniform charge of 2 annas.

Official papers.—Until 1866 official correspondence was carried free under an official frank, and the departments were debited with the postage at the ordinary rates. This system was replaced by the use of service stamps for official correspondence, and the rates were reduced. Until October 1907 the rates were as follows:—letters not exceeding half a tola—half an anna; above half a tola to 10 tolas—one anna; and one anna for each additional 10 tolas up to 40 tolas; letters above 40 tolas in weight were charged as if they were private letters. With effect from the 1st October 1907, the postage rates for official letters, packets, and parcels are the ordinary rates for those articles.

Foreign postage.—Before 1892 the rates of postage on letters, postcards, and packets for foreign countries varied with the cost of transit and other considerations; but in that year the elementary union rates of postage were adopted by India for correspondence for all parts of the world, whether within or without the Postal Union. Those rates now are—for letters, 2½ annas for the first ounce and 1½ annas for every additional ounce; for postcards, single, 1 anna each; reply, 2 annas; for printed papers, half an anna per two ounces; for business papers entirely or partly in manuscript, 2½ annas for the first 10 ounces and half an anna for every 2 ounces additional; for samples, 1 anna for the first 4 ounces and half an anna for every 2 ounces additional. On the 25th December

POST OFFICE—concluded

1898 the rate for letters sent from British India to the United Kingdom and to certain British possessions was reduced to one anna for every half-ounce or fraction thereof. Since the 1st October 1907, however, the unit of weight for such letters has been raised to one ounce, and the rate which now applies to the United Kingdom and almost all British possessions, as also to Egypt (including the Soudan), is one anna for every ounce or fraction thereof.

For the lines of postal communication under contract with the Peninsular and Oriental Company an annual subsidy of £340,000 is paid by His Majesty's Government for the combined Eastern and Australian mail services. The Indian share of this subsidy was £70,089 under the contract which expired on the 31st January 1908. Under the fresh contract with the Company, which came into effect on the 1st February 1908, the total annual subsidy payable is £305,000 of which the Indian share has not yet been assessed.

* The annual subsidy is R70,000, but the actual payment made during the year 1908-09 is R46,667.

(Figures supplied by the Indian Telegraph Department)

After prolonged experiments Dr. W. B. O'Shaughnessy, Professor of Chemistry in the Medical College at Calcutta, obtained the sanction of the Government in 1851 to construct experimental lines from Calcutta to Diamond Harbour, a length of 82 miles, partly over head and partly underground. In 1852 the lines were extended over 3,050 miles, and by 1857 over 4,555 miles of wire.

On the 31st March 1909, 93,449 miles of wire and cable were maintained for railways and canals, 3,807 railway and canal offices were technically supervised by the Department, and 2,378 offices were worked by Postal Agency on behalf of the Telegraph Department.

The Department supplies the military telegraph and telephone systems, it has always a large number of British soldiers in training in telegraphy, and employs a proportion of the trained men in many of its offices, thus providing a reserve of trained military telegraphists for service in war. The Department also supplies private telegraph or telephone lines to the departments of Government, and, in places where their wants cannot be met by telephone companies, to municipalities and other local bodies, and also to private individuals.

Employment of Women.—In December 1907, the employment of women in the Telegraph Department as signallers was sanctioned by the Government of India for the first time. Subsequently, in February 1908, the sanction was extended to their employment as Booking Clerks in certain large offices as an experimental measure.

Radio-telegraphy.—The first installation of radio-telegraphy under the Government of India was that between Diamond Island and Port Blair on the 1st of October 1905. The cable between Bassein and Diamond Island having failed and been abandoned, a second radio-telegraph office was opened at Bassein in May 1907. Bassein usually works Diamond Island but can, when atmospheric disturbances are not severe, communicate direct with Port Blair, a distance of 383 miles, 69 of which are overland. Radio-telegraphic communication was opened in October 1905 between Saugor Island and the steam pilot vessel 'Fraser' at the Sandheads, but experiments of working this vessel from Calcutta direct having proved successful, the station at Saugor Island was abandoned in favour of the latter in April 1907. In February 1909, radio-telegraph stations were opened at Mergui and Victoria Point. The usual rates for telegrams, both Inland and Foreign, apply to all these sections with the exception of that between Calcutta and the Sandheads, a fee of Rs. 4 per telegram being levied in addition to the usual rates on this section.

Long distance telegraphy.—Special experiments were carried out during January 1909 and it was found possible, for London, to work Calcutta, Madras and Rangoon by the 'Wheatstone' apparatus direct, using the lines of the Indo-European Telegraph Department through Persia, the distance approximating 8,700 miles. The speed attained was 35 words per minute. Following on these experiments the Karachi cable office started working London direct as a normal arrangement from the 20th January 1909.

Inter-Departmental changes.—The year 1908-09 will be memorable in the annals of this Department as the year of sweeping reforms and important changes in traffic and establishment matters. The whole year was taken up in remodelling every branch of the work dealing with the manipulation of message traffic and on the 1st of January 1909 a revised Inland tariff was introduced. The pay and prospects of the Signalling Establishment were materially improved with effect from the 1st of July 1908 and is the most important change effected in their status since 1865. This Department had the benefit of the advice and experience of Mr. J. Newlands, of the British Post Office, who was engaged as an expert in these matters.

Telegraph laws.—Act XIII of 1885 as amended by Act XI of 1888 repealing all earlier Acts (the first being XXXIV of 1854) deals with the privileges and powers of Government in respect to telegraphs, their authority to grant licenses for the establishment of telegraphs, and the regulations under which telegraphs are to be worked. They also provide and regulate the powers of the Department to place telegraph lines and posts on public and private lands, and declare the penalties for infringements of licenses, and for all other offences connected with telegraph lines, and with the transmission of telegrams. Rules and regulations for the acceptance, transmission and custody of telegrams are published from time to time in the Gazette of India by the Governor-General in Council, and have the force of law.

Tariff for inland telegrams.—The rates have been modified from time to time as follows :

From	February	1855	to April	1859	. One rupee for sixteen words per 400 miles of telegraph line
,,	April	1859	,, January	1866	. One rupee for the first sixteen words and one anna for each additional word per 400 miles of direct distance
,,	January	1866	,, October	368	. For the first twenty words eight annas per 100 miles, one rupee per 200 miles and one rupee and eight annas per 400 miles
,,	October	1868	,, January	1872	. One rupee for ten words, and the distance limit removed
,,	January	1872	,, July	1881	. One rupee for six words
,,	July	1881	,, January	1882	. One rupee for six words or less, and two annas for each additional word

„ January 1909	'Express' rate—One rupee for twelve words and two annas for each additional word 'Ordinary' rate—Six annas for twelve words and half an anna for each additional word

From January 1872 till the end of 1903 the address was telegraphed free.

Tariff between India and Europe.—Through communication from India to Europe viâ Karáchi and the Persian Gulf was established on the 27th January 1865, and the cable route from Bombay viâ Aden and Suez was opened in the spring of 1870. The original tariff was £5 or R50 for messages of 20 words between India and the United Kingdom, which was reduced in 1868 to £2 17*s.* 6*d.* or R28-8 for 20 words. In 1871 this tariff was raised to £4 10*s.* or R45 for 20 words, and in 1875 a word rate was established at francs 5·50 viâ Suez or viâ Teheran, and francs 5 viâ Turkey. In 1885 the rates were reduced to francs 5 and 4·50, respectively. From the 1st March 1902 the rates viâ Teheran and Suez were reduced to francs 3·125 or 2*s.* 6*d.* per word, and from the 1st January 1903 the charge viâ Turkey was reduced to 2*s.* 3*d.* per word. Since the 1st August 1905 the rates for cablegrams have been reduced to R1-6 viâ Turkey and R1-8 viâ Teheran and Suez.

Tariff between India and Australia.—By virtue of an agreement between the Federal Government of Australia and the Eastern Extension, Australasia, and China Telegraph Company, the rates between Australia on the one hand and certain countries in the East and Far East—including India, Burma, and Ceylon—on the other were reduced to a uniform rate of 3·125 frs. or R1-14 per word with effect from the 1st June 1903, before which the rate in force between India and Australia was 5·7708 frs. or R3-8 per word, and between Burma and Australia two annas more.

Progress of revenue and expenditure and of messages.—The revenue and expenditure of the Department and the number of messages sent, during the last five years, are entered in the table below :

As compared with the statistics of 1907-08, the gross revenue in 1908-09 attained the same level, but the expenditure was higher by some 4½ lakhs with the result that the surplus of revenue over expenditure fell short of the preceding year's figures by a corresponding amount. The increase in expenditure occurred mainly under the head "Signalling" and is the result of the reorganisation, already referred to elsewhere, of the signalling establishment, and of the improvement in the pay of Postal Telegraphists employed in Combined offices.

The decrease in the volume of foreign traffic in 1908-09 is due to the opening of the Batavia-Cocos cable which opened an alternative route for traffic between Africa and the Far East. The rates viâ this cable are the same as those viâ India between these places

[TABLES 1 TO 4, PAGES 68 TO 71]

(Compiled from the Administration Report on the Railways in India published by the Railway Board and the Financial Statement of the Government of India)

The figures in table No. 1 represent the result of the working of the railways in India as a whole.

Up to the close of the calendar year 1908, the capital outlay on open lines and lines partly open amounted to R41,191·71 lakhs as compared with R30,857·81 lakhs at the end of 1899, the increase in the ten years being 33 per cent, irrespective of the rise in the exchange value of the rupees. The number of miles open for traffic increased during the same period from 23,476 to 30,576 or 30 per cent. The outlay on lines wholly under construction amounted to R778·73 lakhs and on miscellaneous items connected with railways to R97·05 lakhs, the total capital outlay at the end of 1908 being R42,067·49 lakhs.

The gross earnings of all railways in 1908 were R44,82,69,000. The term "gross-earnings" includes earnings from passenger traffic and goods traffic which are shewn in the latter columns of the table No. 1, and also earnings under the heads of "other coaching traffic" (including earnings from passengers' luggage, military baggage, carriage of horses and dogs, parcels for the public and revenue, haulage and hire of post office vehicles, special train and parcels carried for the Postal Department and other miscellaneous items), "electric telegraph," and "steamboat and sundries." The average earnings for the last five years under these heads were "other coaching traffic" R1,71,60,600, "electric telegraph" R8,62,800, and "steamboat and sundries" R1,09,43,800. The gross earnings, the working expenses, and net earnings of railways taken as a whole have increased during the last 10 years by 53, 94, and 16 per cent, respectively.

The following railways shew net earnings of over a crore of rupees during 1908:

	R
East Indian	4,61,45,000
Great Indian Peninsula	2,28,84,000
North-Western	1,26,75,000
Bengal-Nagpur	1,14,07,000
Bombay, Baroda and Central India	1,07,40,000

The average number of miles travelled by each class of passengers and the average rate charged per mile during 1908 were as follows:

	Average miles carried	Average rate charged per mile in pies
First class	100·76	12·95
Second class	71·26	5·76
Intermediate	58·82	3·04
Third class	38·65	2·28

The average rate for all descriptions of goods carried during 1908 was 5·09 pies per ton per mile. The average distance over which a ton of goods was carried was 159 miles.

The railways which carried in 1908 the largest number of passengers and the largest amount of goods were:

	Passengers (number)	Goods (million tons)
North-Western	40,745,000	3·99
East Indian	31,767,000	11·91
Great Indian Peninsula	29,357,000	3·98
Bombay, Baroda and Central India	30,547,000	2·24
South Indian	31,290,000	2·15
Eastern Bengal	26,524,000	3·29

Bengal-Nagpur	11,849,000	4·10
Bengal and North Western	18,271,000	1·71

The chief commodities carried during 1908 were:

	Quantity (tons)	Earnings (R)
Grain and Pulse	9,115,366	5,25,45,376
Coal	13,243,034	3,58,65,395

Sugar	1,756,799	1,40,83,994
Salt	1,964,120	1,16,61,786
Cotton, raw and manufactured	1,605,015	2,26,31,430
Jute	1,700,341	1,02,53,936
Metals	1,692,361	1,17,86,796
Mineral Substances	2,154,232	44,91,711
Wood	1,520,845	52,04,051
TOTAL	36,847,276	17,18,32,690

The traffic in these commodities amounted during the year 1907 to about 82 per cent in weight and 78 per cent in earnings, and during the year under review to 81 per cent in weight and 71 per cent in earnings, of the total traffic carried for the public. The total quantity of each commodity represents the total weight conveyed over all railways and does not represent the total production.

The results of chief railways per train mile run are compared below :

	Total earnings per train-mile	Total working expenses per train-mile	Net earnings per train-mile
Bombay, Baroda and Central India	5·14	2·71	2·43

Oudh and Rohilkhand	3·33	2·28	1·05
Burma	3·16	1·86	1·30

Table No. 2 shews the number of miles of railways open for traffic during each of the past 39 years. The open mileage on the 31st March 1909 was divided between the different gauges as follows :

Standard gauge	16,077	miles
Metre „	13,183	„
Other gauges	1,723	„
TOTAL	30,983	„

The revenue shewn in table No. 3 includes the gross receipts of State railways, the net traffic receipt of guaranteed companies, and the repayment of advances of interest of subsidised companies. The expenditure represents the working expenses, interest and annuity charges of State railways and surplus profits, land and supervision charges for guaranteed and subsidised railways, and miscellaneous railway expenditure.

Up to the end of 1898-99 the railways in respect of which Government is financially responsible worked at a loss to the State, owing partly to the increased payments to certain guaranteed companies necessitated by the fall of exchange and partly to the yearly additions of new and undeveloped lines ; but with the termination of the guarantee of the Great Indian Peninsula Railway and the development of traffic, the revenue has excepting the single set back in 1908-09 (the year under review), exceeded the expenditure, the net results being :

1899-1900	11·51	„ „
1900-01	48·77	„ „
1901-02	126·99	„ „
1902-03	34·34	„ „
1903-04	129·10	„ „
1904-05	315·82	„ „
1905-06	300·29	„ „
1906-07	346·15	„ „
1907-08	235·88	„ „
1908-09	—186·33	„ „

The deficit in the latest year is ascribed to a fall in gross receipts combined with an increase in working expenses.

The total number of persons killed from all descriptions of accidents during 1908 was 2,137 against 1,834 in the previous year, and the number injured was 1,852 against 1,665. Out of a total of 321 millions of passengers travelling only 121 passengers were killed and 284 injured by causes beyond their control. This gives an average of ·38 fatal casualty per million of persons travelling.

* Excludes lines for which information regarding "capital outlay," "gross earnings," etc., is not available

† Capital outlay on lines open, i.e., on mileage earning revenue

(a) Estimated

(b) The decrease is due to the revision of the capital outlay in consequence of the substitution of the actual expenditure incurred on the construction of lines purchased by the State from Guaranteed Railway Companies as shown in rupees in the accounts of these railways at date of purchase for the total purchase price converted at £1=R10, which was erroneously taken in stating the capital expenditure in previous Railway Administration Reports

IRRIGATION

[TABLES 1 TO 4, PAGES 74 TO 87]

(Compiled from the Government of India statements showing the financial results of Irrigation operations in India and the provincial reports on Irrigation.)

Financially considered, irrigation works are classed as "major" and "minor," the former being subdivided into (1) Productive and (2) Protective works.

The most important irrigation works in India are those classed as "Productive works" or works the capital cost of which has been wholly or mainly provided from loan funds in the expectation that they will prove directly remunerative and that the net revenue derived from them will fully cover all charges for interest within a reasonable time after their completion.

"Protective" irrigation works are those which have been sanctioned in consideration of their value as famine protective works, but without any expectation of their becoming directly remunerative. The cost of their construction has been met from the Famine Insurance grant. Capital and revenue accounts are kept for all major works, and the revenue due to them, whether directly in the form of water rates and miscellaneous receipts or indirectly on account of enhancements of land revenue due to irrigation, is shewn in the Finance Accounts.

Minor works are of three classes, namely, (1) those for which capital and revenue accounts are kept. All expenditure incurred in the construction and development of minor irrigation works is met from the ordinary revenue. They are treated wholly as provincial in all provinces except Sind, Bombay, Baluchistan, Rajputana, the North-West Frontier Province, and the Panjab where all, with a few exceptions, are Imperial. (2) Such minor works for which only revenue accounts are kept, either because the works are too small or because they have not been constructed by Government which has simply undertaken their improvement or maintenance. They are credited with a share of the land revenue depending on their maintenance and are debited with all expenditure incurred on construction, extension, improvements, and maintenance. There is a third important class of minor works, chiefly existing in the Madras Presidency, for which neither capital nor revenue accounts are kept. The Madras works include over 28,000 tanks and 6,000 irrigation channels, the improvement and repair of which are executed by the Public Works Department or in the case of smaller works by civil officers.

Table No. 1 shows the mileage of canals in operation and the area irrigated, and table No. 2 shows the financial results of irrigation and navigation works under A—Major Works and B—Minor Works, at the end of each year from 1889-90 to 1908-09. The mileage and the area irrigated and the financial results under the different classes during 1908-09 are shown below:

In Bengal the navigation receipts have recently suffered from the competition of the railways. The Eastern Jumna Canal is the most remunerative work in the United Provinces. In the Panjab the greatest amount of net revenue is obtained on the Lower Chenab Canal which promises developments due to recent extension. The Sidhnai Canal is also very remunerative. The Lower Jhelum Canal worked on a loss until 1904-05 and its irrigation has not reached its normal development. The Godavari and Cauvery Delta Systems are the most remunerative works in Madras.

Table No. 4 gives the details of irrigation and navigation in each province in each year from 1904-05 to 1908-09. The details for 1908-09 may be summarised as follow :

POST OFFICE

[TABLES 1 TO 20, PAGES 7 TO 60]

(Figures supplied by the Postal Department)

Early history and progress

Until 1837 no general system of postal service existed in India : there were only certain services for the conveyance of letters and parcels instituted by Government for its own purposes, the use of which was conceded as a privilege to private persons. By Act XVII of 1837 a public post was established, and the right to convey letters for hire in the territories of the East India Company was made a monopoly and vested in the Government.

The organisation of the service was at first very imperfect. The presidency postmasters, as postmasters-general, supervised a certain number of provincial offices and provided for the conveyance of mails on a few main lines, while the collectors of districts had charge of district offices and local lines. There was no central authority to secure the co-operation of the postal officials of the several provinces or to maintain uniformity of practice. There were no postage stamps, and the charge, levied in cash, for the carriage of a letter varied according to weight and the distance it was carried. From Calcutta to Bombay the charge was one rupee per tola; from Calcutta to Agra twelve annas. In 1850 a Commission was appointed to report on the working of the post office, and as a result Act XVII of 1837 was repealed by Act XVII of 1854. This Act, which marks the beginning of the present organisation of the post office, provided for the issue of postage stamps and prescribed rates for the conveyance of letters irrespective of distance, power being conferred on the Government to reduce the rates. A director-general of the post office was appointed for the whole of India ; the office of postmaster-general was separated from that of presidency postmaster ; postmasters-general were appointed for the direct administration of the services of the larger provinces ; and deputy postmasters-general, at first designated chief inspectors, were appointed for the smaller provinces and the principal political agencies. A central office of account was established in Calcutta in 1861. The sorting of letters in transit by railway was introduced in 1864, and the sea post office for sorting letters in transit from Suez to Bombay was established in 1868. In 1875 the Postal Union was established for the regulation of the exchange of international correspondence, and in the following year British India joined it. The Act of 1854 was repealed by Act XIV of 1866 and this by Act VI of 1898 which is now the legal sanction for the working of the post office.

Letters and other articles carried

The main business of the post office is the conveyance and delivery of letters, postcards, newspapers, parcels, and book-packets ; and the total length of mail lines over which its work is carried on is 156,761 miles. Railway and steamer services now extend over 51,514 miles of this length, and the other 105,247 miles are worked by boats, mail-carts, horses, camels, and runners. The number of post offices is 18,642, of letter-boxes 45,753 (excluding those at post offices), and of postmen and village postmen 25,374. The number of letters, newspapers, packets, and parcels given out for delivery in 1909-10 amounted to over 919 millions.

Parcel post

Before 1854 the post office undertook the carriage of parcels at rates varying with weight and distance, and this system was continued until, in 1870, rates were sanctioned varying only with weight and irrespective of distance. In 1873 arrangements were made for the carriage of parcels to and from England, and for their distribution and collection through the agency of the Peninsular and Oriental Steam Navigation Company. In 1885 an exchange of postal parcels was introduced between India and the United Kingdom through the agency of the British Post Office. In 1899 the Indian Post Office joined the International Parcel Post Union ; and parcels are now exchanged by post between India and almost every country in the world.

Value-payable parcels

In 1877 the post office undertook to collect from the addressee the declared value of a parcel or registered article and to transmit the money to the sender. The extent to which this system is used by traders and their customers is indicated by the fact that in 1909-10—32 years after its introduction—the number of value-payable articles carried was 6,870,979 and the value declared for realisation was ₹8,18,35,860.

Insurance of letters and parcels

Since 1878 the post office has undertaken the insurance of letters and parcels. Until 1890 there was no limit to the sum for which an article could be insured ; in that year the limit of ₹1,000 was fixed ; but in December 1898 this limit was raised for registered letters and value-payable registered letters and registered parcels to ₹2,000, and the procedure in connection with the insurance of articles was simplified, the sender of an insured article being no longer required to declare its contents. The insurance fee was at first fixed at one-half per cent, but shortly afterwards it was reduced to one-quarter per cent, and in July 1905 it was further reduced to one-eighth per cent. The gross sum for which articles were insured by the post office in 1909-10 was R25,46,06,259.

Money orders

In 1880 the Government of India transferred from the treasuries to the post office the business of the issue and payment of money orders, with the result that within a few months the number of orders issued was quadrupled. The value of inland money orders issued has increased from R4,57,08,580 in 1880-81 to R40,18,27,977 in 1909-10. Special arrangements have been made to adapt the money order system to remittances of revenue, rent, and miscellaneous Government dues, and in several provinces the system is largely used for these purposes. The commission on inland money orders is 4 annas for each complete sum of R25 with lower rates of 1, 2, and 3 annas, respectively, for any sums or remainders not exceeding R5, R10, and R15. Foreign money orders are also exchanged with the principal countries of the world, the maximum limit of a rupee order being R600 and of a sterling order £40 except in a few cases in which the maximum limit is either £10 or £20.

In 1884 the Indian Post Office undertook the sale of British postal orders. Such orders, ranging in value from 6*d.* to 21*s.*, can now be exchanged with the greater part of the British Empire and used also for inland remittances.

Savings banks

In 1870 Government savings banks were established in connection with district treasuries. In 1882 sanction was given for the opening of savings banks at post offices, and three years later the closure of the treasury savings banks was ordered. In 1882-83 the number of depositors in the postal savings banks was 39,121 and the sum at their credit R27,96,730. By the end of 1909-10 the number of depositors had increased to 1,378,916 and the sum at their credit amounted to R15,86,71,785. The accounts of native depositors number 1,256,666, with a balance of R14,59,93,927 at credit, the remainder being held by Europeans and Eurasians. The post office undertakes on behalf of depositors the purchase and sale of Government promissory notes and the transfer of such notes to the Comptroller, Post Office, for custody on behalf of the purchaser.

Postal telegraphs

In 1883 many post offices were made receiving offices for the transmission of inland telegrams by post to the nearest telegraph office; and telegraph work was also undertaken by the post office in a certain number of offices. The number of telegraph offices has thus been largely increased, and out of 2,762 state (non-railway) telegraph offices on the 31st March 1910, 2,483 were postal telegraph offices. In 1909-10 the number of messages transmitted by receiving offices was 52,927 and the number of messages signalled by postal telegraph offices was 5,783,614 excluding free messages.

Cart services

When the post office was first established its agency was largely utilised for the management of staging bungalows, the carriage of goods by bullock train, and the conveyance of passengers by palankeen, mail-cart, or parcel van. The extension of the railway system has to a great extent removed the need of these services and the post office now maintains and manages only a single passenger service—the one between Kalka and Simla. Many carriage and cart lines are, however, subsidised for the carriage of the mails.

Sale of stamps and quinine

The agency of the post office is used in several provinces for the sale of court-fee stamps and non-judicial stamps. Post offices in all the provinces also sell packets of quinine manufactured at the Government quinine factories.

Postal life insurance

In 1884 sanction was given to a scheme of life insurance, whereby an officer of the postal service is enabled to obtain a policy for a sum not exceeding R4,000 on the security of Government. In 1888 the scheme was extended to the Telegraph Department. In February 1898 the scheme was extended generally to all Government servants, who are subject to civil rules, and a system of endowment assurances was added to the scheme. By the end of 1909-10, 22,952 lives had been insured for the aggregate sum of R3,13,78,009, and the active policies outstanding were 19,249, of which 8,329 were held by post office servants and 10,920 by servants of other Departments.

Payment of military pensioners

In 1890 the post office undertook the payment of military pensioners in the Panjab at the post offices nearest their homes. The number of pensioners thus paid in 1909-10 was 36,332 and the aggregate sum paid to them R25,65,222.

Rates of postage, inland and foreign

Letters and postcards.—From 1854 to 1869 the lowest rate of postage on an inland letter was half an anna for a weight not exceeding a quarter of a tola. The weight was doubled in 1869, and the rate was half an anna for a weight not exceeding half a tola. This weight was further raised to three-quarters of a tola with effect from the 1st April 1905. Until October 1898 the rate on inland letters exceeding half a tola was one anna a tola, but it was then fixed at one anna for every one-and-a-half tolas. With effect from the 1st October 1907, the weights of letters allowed for ½ and 1 anna were raised from ¾ to 1 tola and from 1½ to 10 tolas respectively. Embossed envelopes bearing a half anna coloured impressed stamp and sold at the face value of the stamp without any charge for the envelopes were introduced in 1873. Formerly an additional charge was made for re-direction, equal to the postage paid when the letter was posted, but the additional charge was discontinued in 1877. The introduction of the inland postcard in 1879 gave a still lower rate of postage than that given by the rate of half an anna per half tola with an envelope supplied without charge. The inland postcard has from its introduction been priced at one pice (three pies) per single card and half an anna per reply card, the price in each case covering the cost of the card as well as postage.

Newspapers and packets.—The minimum postage on newspapers was originally one anna for 6 tolas of weight. This rate was lowered in 1866 to one anna for 10 tolas, in 1872 to half an anna for 10 tolas, and in 1895-96 to half an anna for 20 tolas. Additional privileges were also given to newspapers for which the postage for three months was prepaid in cash: if the weight of the newspaper did not exceed 3 tolas, postage was charged at 3 pies per copy; papers packed in bundles and sent to agents for sale were charged half the postage of single copies; and papers exchanged with other newspapers were carried free. From October 1898 these concessions were withdrawn, except that the quarter-anna rate was maintained for registered newspapers and the maximum weight to which this rate applies was raised to four tolas. A new system of "registering" publications as newspapers was introduced in January 1897, under which a "registered newspaper" of weight not exceeding twenty tolas is carried by the inland post for half an anna. From the 1st October 1898 till 1st January 1904, the inland rate for a registered newspaper not exceeding four tolas in weight was one-quarter of an anna and for every registered newspaper exceeding four tolas but not exceeding twenty tolas half an anna; and half an anna for every additional 20 tolas or part of that weight. From the 1st January 1904 the maximum weight for a registered newspaper admissible for transmission through the post for one-quarter of an anna postage was raised from 4 to 6 tolas. This weight has been further raised, since the 1st October 1908, from 6 to 8 tolas, concurrently with an increase from 20 to 40 tolas in the maximum weight admissible for half-an-anna postage.

The postage on packets other than newspapers was one anna for 10 tolas until 1877, when the rate was reduced to one anna per 10 tolas for book packets and two annas per 40 tolas for book packets and patterns. In 1878 the packet rate was lowered to half an anna per 10 tolas.

Parcels.—Before 1870 postage on parcels, all of which were registered, was charged according to distance, but in that year a uniform rate was fixed of three annas for 10 tolas. In 1873 the minimum charge was fixed at four annas for 20 tolas, but four years later it was raised to eight annas for 40 tolas. In 1880, the rates of postage were fixed at four annas for 20 tolas, eight annas for any weight exceeding 20 and up to 40 tolas, and four annas for each additional 40 tolas or part thereof. In August 1895, a system of unregistered parcels was introduced, under which parcels not exceeding 440 tolas in weight were charged for at the rate of two annas for the first 20 tolas and four annas for every additional 40 tolas. The present rates of postage, which came into force on the 1st October 1907, and which are applicable to all classes of parcels, are (1) in the case of parcels, not exceeding 440 tolas in weight, 2 annas for every 40 tolas or part of that weight; and (2) in the case of parcels exceeding 440 tolas in weight, R3 for a parcel not exceeding 480 tolas in weight, and 4 annas for every additional 40 tolas.

Registration fees.—The fee for registration, originally four annas, was reduced to two annas in 1879 for book and pattern packets. The reduction was extended in 1881 to letters and postcards, and from the 1st July 1901 the fee for the registration of a parcel was fixed at a uniform charge of 2 annas.

Official papers.—Until 1866 official correspondence was carried free under an official frank, and the departments were debited with the postage at the ordinary rates. This system was replaced by the use of service stamps for official correspondence, and the rates were reduced. Until October 1907 the rates were as follows:—letters not exceeding half a tola—half an anna; above half a tola to 10 tolas—one anna; and one anna for each additional 10 tolas up to 40 tolas; letters above 40 tolas in weight were charged as if they were private letters. With effect from the 1st October 1907, the postage rates for official letters, packets, and parcels are the ordinary rates for those articles.

Foreign postage.—Before 1892 the rates of postage on letters, postcards, and packets for foreign countries varied with the cost of transit and other considerations; but in that year the elementary union rates of postage were adopted by India for correspondence for all parts of the world, whether within or without the Postal Union. Those rates now are—for letters, 2½ annas for the first ounce and 1½ annas for every additional ounce; for postcards, single, 1 anna each; reply, 2 annas; for printed papers, half an anna per two ounces; for business papers entirely or partly in manuscript, 2½ annas for the first 10 ounces and half an anna for every 2 ounces additional; for samples, 1 anna for the first 4 ounces and half an anna for every 2 ounces additional. On the 25th December

1898 the rate for letters sent from British India to the United Kingdom and to certain British possessions was reduced to one anna for every half-ounce or fraction thereof. Since the 1st October 1907, however, the unit of weight for such letters has been raised to one ounce, and the rate which now applies to the United Kingdom and almost all British possessions, as also to Egypt (including the Soudan), is one anna for every ounce or fraction thereof.

(Figures supplied by the Indian Telegraph Department)

After prolonged experiments Dr. W. B. O'Shaughnessy, Professor of Chemistry in the Medical College at Calcutta, obtained the sanction of the Government in 1851 to construct experimental lines from Calcutta to Diamond Harbour, a length of 82 miles, partly over head and partly underground. In 1852 the lines were extended over 3,050 miles, and by 1857 over 4,555 miles of wire.

On the 31st March 1910, 95,496 miles of wire and cable were maintained for railways and canals, 3,999 railway and canal offices were technically supervised by the Department, and 2,483 offices were worked by Postal Agency on behalf of the Telegraph Department.

The Department supplies the military telegraph and telephone systems, it has always a large number of British soldiers in training in telegraphy, and employs a proportion of the trained men in many of its offices, thus providing a reserve of trained military telegraphists for service in war. The Department also supplies private telegraph or telephone lines to the departments of Government, and, in places where their wants cannot be met by telephone companies, to municipalities and other local bodies, and also to private individuals.

Employment of Women.—In December 1907, the employment of women in the Telegraph Department as signallers was sanctioned by the Government of India for the first time. Subsequently, in February 1908, the sanction was extended to their employment as Booking Clerks in certain large offices as an experimental measure.

Radio-telegraphy.—The first installation of radio-telegraphy under the Government of India was that between Diamond Island and Port Blair with an intermediate station at slipper Island, which was opened on the 1st of October 1905. Subsequently radio communication has been installed between Saugor Island (closed in favour of Calcutta in April 1907) and the Steam Pilot vessel at the Sandheads in October 1905, between Bassein and Diamond Island in May 1907, and between Mergui and Victoria Point in February 1909. In October 1909 a station was opened at Bombay for communication with outgoing and incoming vessels fitted with radio apparatus. From the 1st of November 1910 all stations with the exception of those at Bassein, Mergui, and Port Blair were opened for the exchange of all classes of messages with ships at sea under international rules.

Long distance telegraphy.—Special experiments were carried out during January 1909 and it was found possible, for London, to work Calcutta, Madras, and Rangoon by the 'Wheatstone' apparatus direct, using the lines of the Indo-European Telegraph Department through Persia, the distance approximating 8,700 miles. The speed attained was 35 words per minute. Following on these experiments the Karachi cable office started working London direct as a normal arrangement from the 20th January 1909.

Inter-Departmental changes.—The year 1908-09 will be memorable in the annals of this Department as the year of sweeping reforms and important changes in traffic and establishment matters. The whole year was taken up in remodelling every branch of the work dealing with the manipulation of message traffic and on the 1st January 1909 a revised Inland tariff was introduced. The pay and prospects of the Signalling Establishment were materially improved with effect from the 1st July 1908, and this is the most important change effected in their status since 1865. This Department had the benefit of the advice and experience of Mr. J. Newlands, of the British Post Office, who was engaged as an expert in these matters.

In February 1910 the sanction of the Secretary of State for India was received to the reorganisation of the superior and upper subordinate ranks of the Department. Under the new scheme the salaries and prospects of all concerned were materially improved and their duties and responsibilities readjusted. Eight Telegraph Circles generally co-terminous with the existing Postal Circles were formed. These are each in charge of a Director. The number of Telegraph Divisions was increased from 20 to 34 and all Sub-divisions were abolished. A Technical Branch was formed under an Electrical Engineer-in-Chief and the Telegraph Check Office transferred to the Finance Department. Some changes were also ordered in the manner of recruitment for the Provincial Branch of the Superior Staff of the Department; selections for suitable candidates having to be made from the graduates in the Engineering classes of any college in India which gives a suitable training in electrical engineering, and one appointment in every two years given to a specially selected upper subordinate. Hitherto recruitment was solely through the Thomason Engineering College at Rurki where a special class for Telegraph candidates was maintained.

Telegraph laws.—Act XIII of 1885 as amended by Act XI of 1888 repealing all earlier Acts (the first being XXXIV of 1854) deals with the privileges and powers of Government in respect to telegraphs, their authority to grant licenses for the establishment of telegraphs, and the regulations under which telegraphs are to be worked. They also provide and regulate the powers of the Department to place telegraph lines and posts on public and private lands, and declare the penalties for infringements of licenses, and for all other offences connected with telegraph lines, and with the transmission of telegrams, Rules and regulations for the acceptance, transmission, and custody of telegrams are published from time to time in the Gazette of India by the Governor-General in Council, and have the force of law.

Tariff for inland telegrams.—The rates have been modified from time to time as follows:

From	February	1855	to April	1859	. One rupee for sixteen words per 400 miles of telegraph line
„	April	1859	„ January	1866	. One rupee for the first sixteen words and one anna for each additional word per 400 miles of direct distance

From January 1866 to October 1868 .	For the first twenty words eight annas per 100 miles, one rupee per 200 miles and one rupee and eight annas per 400 miles
„ October 1868 „ January 1872 .	One rupee for ten words, and the distance limit removed
„ January 1872 „ July 1881 .	One rupee for six words
„ July 1881 „ January 1882 .	One rupee for six words or less, and two annas for each additional word
„ January 1882 „ December 1903 .	'Ordinary' rate—One rupee for eight words and two annas for each additional word 'Urgent' rate—Double the ordinary rate 'Deferred' rate—Half the ordinary rate
„ January 1904 „ June 1905 .	'Ordinary' rate—One rupee for sixteen words and two annas for each additional word. Address charged for 'Urgent' rate—Double the ordinary rate. Address charged for 'Deferred' rate—Four annas for four words and one anna for each additional word. Free address limited to six words
„ July 1905 „ December 1908	'Ordinary' and 'urgent' rates—Same as above 'Deferred' rates—Four annas for ten words and one anna for each additional word. Address charged for
„ January 1909	'Express' rate—One rupee for twelve words and two annas for each additional word 'Ordinary' rate—Six annas for twelve words and half an anna for each additional word

From January 1872 till the end of 1903 the address was telegraphed free.

Tariff between India and Europe.—Through communication from India to Europe viâ Karáchi and the Persian Gulf was established on the 27th January 1865, and the cable route from Bombay viâ Aden and Suez was opened in the spring of 1870. The original tariff was £5 or R50 for messages of 20 words between India and the United Kingdom, which was reduced in 1868 to £2 17*s.* 6*d.* or R28-8 for 20 words. In 1871 this tariff was raised to £4 10*s.* or R45 for 20 words, and in 1875 a word rate was established at francs 5·50 viâ Suez or viâ Teheran, and francs 5 viâ Turkey. In 1885 the rates were reduced to francs 5 and 4·50, respectively. From the 1st March 1902 the rates viâ Teheran and Suez were reduced to francs 3·125 or 2*s.* 6*d.* per word, and from the 1st January 1903 the charge viâ Turkey was reduced to 2*s.* 3*d.* per word. Since the 1st August 1905 the rates for cablegrams have been reduced to R1-6 viâ Turkey and R1-8 viâ Teheran and Suez.

Tariff between India and Australia.—By virtue of an agreement between the Federal Government of Australia and the Eastern Extension, Australasia, and China Telegraph Company, the rates between Australia on the one hand and certain countries in the East and Far East—including India, Burma, and Ceylon—on the other were reduced to a uniform rate of 3·125 frs. or R1-14 per word with effect from the 1st June 1903, before which the rate in force between India and Australia was 5·7708 frs. or R3-8 per word, and between Burma and Australia two annas more.

Progress of revenue and expenditure and of messages.—The revenue and expenditure of the Department and the number of messages sent, during the last five years, are entered in the table below :

	Revenue R	Expenditure R	Surplus + or Deficit— R	NUMBER OF MESSAGES
				INLAND			FOREIGN
				State	Private	Total	State	Private	Total

As compared with the statistics of 1908-09, the gross revenue in 1909-10 decreased by 9·2 per cent but the expenditure increased by 3·1 per cent with the result that the surplus of revenue over expenditure fell short of the preceding year's figures by 16 lakhs. The increase in expenditure occurred mainly under the head "Signalling" and is the result of the reorganisation, already referred to elsewhere, of the superior signalling establishments.

The decrease in the volume of foreign traffic in 1908-09 was due to the opening of the Batavia-Cocos cable which opened an alternative route for traffic between Africa and the Far East. The rates viâ this cable are the same as those viâ India between these places.

RAILWAYS

[TABLES 1 TO 4, PAGES 68 TO 71]

(Compiled from the Administration Report on the Railways in India published by the Railway Board and the Financial Statement of the Government of India)

The figures in table No. 1 represent the result of the working of the railways in India as a whole.

Up to the close of the calendar year 1909, the capital outlay on open lines and lines partly open amounted to R42,983·20 lakhs as compared with R32,961·03 lakhs at the end of 1900, the increase in the ten years being 30 per cent, irrespective of the rise in the exchange value of the rupees. The number of miles open for traffic increased during the same period from 24,713 to 31,490 or 27 per cent. The outlay on lines wholly under construction amounted to R499·40 lakhs and on miscellaneous items connected with railways to R79·91 lakhs, the total capital outlay at the end of 1909 being R43,562·51 lakhs.

The gross earnings of all railways in 1909 were R47,06,38,000. The term "gross-earnings" includes earnings from passenger traffic and goods traffic which are shewn in the latter columns of the table No. 1, and also earnings under the heads of "other coaching traffic" (including earnings from passengers' luggage, military baggage, carriage of horses and dogs, parcels for the public and revenue, haulage and hire of post office vehicles, special train and parcels carried for the Postal Department and other miscellaneous items), "electric telegraph," and "steamboat" and "sundries." The average earnings for the last five years under these heads were "other coaching traffic" R1,78,85,400, "electric telegraph" R8,51,200, "steamboat" R25,98,200 and "sundries" R89,77,200. The gross earnings, the working expenses, and net earnings of railways taken as a whole have increased during the last 10 years by 49, 75, and 36 per cent, respectively.

The following railways shew net earnings of over a crore of rupees during 1909 :

	R
East Indian	4,96,21,000
Great Indian Peninsula	2,79,75,000
North-Western	2,41,99,000
Bengal-Nagpur	1,31,42,000
Bombay, Baroda and Central India	1,28,92,000
Rajputana-Malwa	1,15,44,000

The average number of miles travelled by each class of passengers and the average rate charged per mile during 1909 were as follows :

	Average miles carried	Average rate charged per mile in pies
First class	103·35	12·89
Second class	69·24	5·94
Intermediate	54·89	3·06
Third class	38·74	2·28

The average rate for all descriptions of goods carried during 1909 was 5·78 pies per ton per mile. The average distance over which a ton of goods was carried was 153 miles.

The railways which carried in 1909 the largest number of passengers and the largest amount of goods were :

	Passengers (number)	Goods (million tons)
North-Western	42,589,100	8·60
Bombay, Baroda and Central India	32,009,300	2·81
South Indian	31,900,100	2·60

Bengal and North Western	18,073,500	2·10
Bengal-Nagpur	12,906,500	4·69

The chief commodities carried during 1909 were :

	Quantity (tons)	Earnings (R)
Grain and Pulse	9,801,309	6,09,42,457
Coal	12,157,729	3,30,86,233

Mineral substances	2,286,226	48,65,965
TOTAL	37,203,002	19,78,71,719

The traffic in these commodities amounted during the year 1908 to about 81 per cent in weight and 71 per cent in earnings, and during the year under review to 81 per cent in weight and 76 per cent in earnings, of the total traffic carried for the public. The total quantity of each commodity represents the total weight conveyed over all railways and does not represent the total production.

The results of chief railways per train mile run are compared below :

	Total earnings per train-mile	Total working expenses per train mile	Net earnings per train-mile

Table No. 2 shews the number of miles of railways open for traffic at the end of each of the past 40 years. The open mileage on the 31st March 1910 was divided between the different gauges as follows :

Standard gauge	16,340	miles
Metre „	13,399	„
Other gauges	1,875	„
TOTAL	31,614	„

The revenue shewn in table No. 3 includes the gross receipts of State railways, the net traffic receipt of guaranteed companies, and the repayment of advances of interest of subsidised companies. The expenditure represents the working expenses, interest and annuity charges of State railways and surplus profits, land and supervision charges for guaranteed and subsidised railways, and miscellaneous railway expenditure.

Up to the end of 1898-99 the railways in respect of which Government is financially responsible worked at a loss to the State, owing partly to the increased payments to certain guaranteed companies necessitated by the fall of exchange and partly to the yearly additions of new and undeveloped lines ; but with the termination of the guarantee of the Great Indian Peninsula Railway and the development of traffic, the revenue has, excepting the single set back in 1908-09, exceeded the expenditure, the net results being :

1898-99	—93·02	lakhs of rupees		1904-05	315·82	lakhs of rupees
1899-1900	11·51	„	„	1905-06	300·29	„ „
1900-01	48·77	„	„	1906-07	346·15	„ „
1901-02	126·99	„	„	1907-08	235·88	„ „
1902-03	34·34	„	„	1908-09	—186·33	„ „
1903-04	129·10	„	„	1909-10	123·74	„ „

The deficit in 1908-09 was ascribed to a fall in gross receipts combined with an increase in working expenses.

The total number of persons killed from all descriptions of accidents during 1909 was 1,931 against 2,137 in the previous year, and the number injured was 1,623 against 1,852. Out of a total of 329 millions of passengers travelling only 29 passengers were killed and 127 injured by causes beyond their control. This gives an average of ·09 fatal casualty per million of persons travelling.

† Capital outlay on lines open, i.e., on mileage earning revenue

(a) Estimated

(b) The decrease is due to the revision of the capital outlay in consequence of the substitution of the actual expenditure incurred on the construction of lines purchased by the State from Guaranteed Railway Companies as shown in rupees in the accounts of these railways at date of purchase for the total purchase price converted at £1=₹10, which was erroneously taken in stating the capital expenditure in previous Railway Administration Reports

IRRIGATION

[TABLES 1 TO 4, PAGES 74 TO 87]

(Compiled from the Government of India statements showing the financial results of Irrigation operations in India and the provincial reports on Irrigation.)

Financially considered, irrigation works are classed as "major" and "minor," the former being subdivided into (1) Productive and (2) Protective works.

The most important irrigation works in India are those classed as "Productive works" or works the capital cost of which has been wholly or mainly provided from loan funds in the expectation that they will prove directly remunerative and that the net revenue derived from them will fully cover all charges for interest within a reasonable time after their completion.

"Protective" irrigation works are those which have been sanctioned in consideration of their value in protection against famine, but without any expectation of their becoming directly remunerative. The cost of their construction has been met from the Famine Insurance grant. Capital and revenue accounts are kept for all major works, and the revenue due to them, whether directly in the form of water rates and miscellaneous receipts or indirectly on account of enhancements of land revenue due to irrigation, is shewn in the Finance Accounts.

Minor works are of three classes, namely:—(1) Works for which capital and revenue accounts are kept. All expenditure incurred in the construction and development of minor irrigation works is met from the ordinary revenue. In Sind, Bombay, British Baluchistan, Ajmer-Merwara, the North-West Frontier Province, and the Panjab these works are with few exceptions, regarded as Imperial. In the other provinces they are treated as entirely provincial. (2) Minor works for which only revenue accounts are kept, either because the works are too small or because they have not been constructed by Government which has simply undertaken their improvement or maintenance. They are credited with a share of the land revenue depending on their maintenance and are debited with all expenditure incurred on construction, extension, improvements, and maintenance. (3) There is a third important class of minor works, chiefly existing in the Madras Presidency, for which neither capital nor revenue accounts are kept. The Madras works include over 28,000 tanks and 6,000 irrigation channels, the improvement and repair of which are executed by the Public Works Department or in the case of smaller works by civil officers.

Table No. 1 shows the mileage of canals in operation and the area irrigated, and table No. 2 shows the financial results of irrigation and navigation works under A—Major Works and B—Minor Works, at the end of each year from 1890-91 to 1909-10. The mileage and the area irrigated and the financial results under the different classes during 1909-10 are shown below:

In Bengal the navigation receipts have recently suffered from the competition of the railways. The Ganges Canal, the Lower Ganges Canal, and the Eastern Jumna Canal are the most remunerative works in the United Provinces. In the Panjab the greatest amount of net revenue is obtained on the Lower Chenab Canal which promises developments due to recent extension. The Upper Bari Doab Canal, the Lower Jhelum Canal, and the Sidhnai Canal are also very remunerative. The Godavari, the Kistna, and the Cauvery Delta Systems are the most remunerative works in Madras.

Table No. 4 gives the details of irrigation and navigation in each province in each year from 1905-06 to 1909-10. The details for 1909-10 may be summarised as follow:

POST OFFICE

[TABLES 1 TO 20, PAGES 7 TO 60]

(Figures supplied by the Postal Department)

Early history and progress

Until 1837 no general system of postal service existed in India : there were only certain services for the conveyance of letters and parcels instituted by Government for its own purposes, the use of which was conceded as a privilege to private persons. By Act XVII of 1837 a public post was established, and the right to convey letters for hire in the territories of the East India Company was made a monopoly and vested in the Government.

The organisation of the service was at first very imperfect. The presidency postmasters, as postmasters-general, supervised a certain number of provincial offices and provided for the conveyance of mails on a few main lines, while the collectors of districts had charge of district offices and local lines. There was no central authority to secure the co-operation of the postal officials of the several provinces or to maintain uniformity of practice. There were no postage stamps, and the charge, levied in cash, for the carriage of a letter varied according to weight and the distance it was carried. From Calcutta to Bombay the charge was one rupee per tola; from Calcutta to Agra twelve annas. In 1850 a Commission was appointed to report on the working of the post office, and as a result Act XVII of 1837 was repealed by Act XVII of 1854. This Act, which marks the beginning of the present organisation of the post office, provided for the issue of postage stamps and prescribed rates for the conveyance of letters irrespective of distance, power being conferred on the Government to reduce the rates. A director-general of the post office was appointed for the whole of India; the office of postmaster-general was separated from that of presidency postmaster; postmasters-general were appointed for the direct administration of the services of the larger provinces; and deputy postmasters-general, at first designated chief inspectors, were appointed for the smaller provinces and the principal political agencies. A central office of account was established in Calcutta in 1861. The sorting of letters in transit by railway was introduced in 1864, and the sea post office for sorting letters in transit from Suez to Bombay was established in 1868. In 1875 the Postal Union was established for the regulation of the exchange of international correspondence, and in the following year British India joined it. The Act of 1854 was repealed by Act XIV of 1866 and this by Act VI of 1898 which is now the legal sanction for the working of the post office.

Letters and other articles carried

The main business of the post office is the conveyance and delivery of letters, postcards, newspapers, parcels, and book-packets; and the total length of mail lines over which its work is carried on is 157,759 miles. Railway and steamer services now extend over 52,034 miles of this length, and the other 105,725 miles are worked by boats, mail-carts, horses, camels, and runners. The number of post offices is 18,813, of letter-boxes 46,884 (excluding those at post offices), and of postmen and village postmen 25,661. The actual number of parcels posted added to the estimated number of letters, postcards, newspapers, and packets, given out for delivery in 1910-11 amounted to over 945 millions.

Parcel post

Before 1854 the post office undertook the carriage of parcels at rates varying with weight and distance, and this system was continued until, in 1870, rates were sanctioned varying only with weight and irrespective of distance. In 1873 arrangements were made for the carriage of parcels to and from England, and for their distribution and collection through the agency of the Peninsular and Oriental Steam Navigation Company. In 1885 an exchange of postal parcels was introduced between India and the United Kingdom through the agency of the British Post Office. In 1899 the Indian Post Office joined the International Parcel Post Union; and parcels are now exchanged by post between India and almost every country in the world.

Value-payable parcels

In 1877 the post office undertook to collect from the addressee the declared value of a parcel or registered article and to transmit the money to the sender. The extent to which this system is used by traders and their customers is indicated by the fact that in 1910-11—33 years after its introduction—the number of value-payable articles carried was 7,354,915 and the value declared for realisation was ₹8,74,75,206.

Insurance of letters and parcels

Since 1878 the post office has undertaken the insurance of letters and parcels. Until 1890 there was no limit to the sum for which an article could be insured; in that year the limit of ₹1,000 was fixed; but in December 1898 this limit was raised for registered letters and value-payable registered letters and registered parcels to ₹2,000, and the procedure in connection with the insurance of articles was simplified, the sender of an insured article being no longer required to declare its contents. The insurance fee was at first fixed at one-half per cent, but shortly afterwards it was reduced to one-quarter per cent, and in July 1905 it was further reduced to one-eighth per cent. The gross sum for which articles were insured by the post office in 1910-11 was R26,88,78,925.

Money orders

In 1880 the Government of India transferred from the treasuries to the post office the business of the issue and payment of money orders, with the result that within a few months the number of orders issued was quadrupled. The value of inland money orders issued has increased from R4,57,08,580 in 1880-81 to R42,06,99,481 in 1910-11. Special arrangements have been made to adapt the money order system to remittances of revenue, rent, and miscellaneous Government dues, and in several provinces the system is largely used for these purposes. The commission on inland money orders is 4 annas for each complete sum of R25 with lower rates of 1, 2, and 3 annas, respectively, for any sums or remainders not exceeding R5, R10, and R15. Foreign money orders are also exchanged with the principal countries of the world, the maximum limit of a rupee order being R600 and of a sterling order £40 except in a few cases in which the maximum limit is either £10 or £20.

In 1884 the Indian Post Office undertook the sale of British postal orders. Such orders, ranging in value from 6*d.* to 21*s.*, can now be exchanged with the greater part of the British Empire and used also for inland remittances.

Savings banks

In 1870 Government savings banks were established in connection with district treasuries. In 1882 sanction was given for the opening of savings banks at post offices, and three years later the closure of the treasury savings banks was ordered. In 1882-83 the number of depositors in the postal savings banks was 39,121 and the sum at their credit R27,96,730. By the end of 1910-11 the number of depositors had increased to 1,430,451 and the sum at their credit amounted to R16,91,88,224. The accounts of Indian depositors number 1,302,561, with a balance of R15,50,06,772 at credit, the remainder being held by Europeans and Eurasians. The post office undertakes on behalf of depositors the purchase and sale of Government promissory notes and the transfer of such notes to the Comptroller, Post Office, for custody on behalf of the purchaser.

Postal telegraphs

In 1883 many post offices were made receiving offices for the transmission of inland telegrams by post to the nearest telegraph office; and telegraph work was also undertaken by the post office in a certain number of offices. The number of telegraph offices has thus been largely increased, and out of 2,856 state (non-railway) telegraph offices on the 31st March 1911, 2,577 were postal telegraph offices. In 1910-11 the number of messages transmitted by receiving offices was 56,655 and the number of messages signalled by postal telegraph offices was 6,454,270 excluding free messages.

Cart services

When the post office was first established its agency was largely utilised for the management of staging bungalows, the carriage of goods by bullock train, and the conveyance of passengers by palankeen, mail-cart, or parcel van. The extension of the railway system has to a great extent removed the need of these services and the post office now maintains and manages only a single passenger service—the one between Kalka and Simla. Many carriage and cart lines are, however, subsidised for the carriage of the mails.

Sale of stamps and quinine

The agency of the post office is used in several provinces for the sale of court-fee stamps and non-judicial stamps. Post offices in all the provinces also sell packets of quinine manufactured at the Government quinine factories.

Postal life insurance

In 1884 sanction was given to a scheme of life insurance, whereby an officer of the postal service is enabled to obtain a policy for a sum not exceeding R4,000 on the security of Government. In 1888 the scheme was extended to the Telegraph Department. In February 1898 the scheme was extended generally to all Government servants, who are subject to civil rules, and a system of endowment assurances was added to the scheme. By the end of 1910-11, 24,663 lives had been insured for the aggregate sum of R3,37,89,699, and the active policies outstanding were 20,247, of which 8,606 were held by post office servants and 11,641 by servants of other Departments.

Payment of military pensioners

In 1890 the post office undertook the payment of military pensioners in the Punjab at the post offices nearest their homes. The number of pensioners thus paid in 1910-11 was 37,324 and the aggregate sum paid to them R26,41,635.

Rates of postage, inland and foreign

Letters and postcards.—From 1854 to 1869 the lowest rate of postage on an inland letter was half an anna for a weight not exceeding a quarter of a tola. The weight was doubled in 1869, and the rate was half an anna for a weight not exceeding half a tola. This weight was further raised to three-quarters of a tola with effect from the 1st April 1905. Until October 1898 the rate on inland letters exceeding half a tola was one anna a tola, but it was then fixed at one anna for every one-and-a-half tolas. With effect from the 1st October 1907, the weights of letters allowed for ½ and 1 anna were raised from ¾ to 1 tola and from 1½ to 10 tolas respectively. Embossed envelopes bearing a half anna coloured impressed stamp and sold at the face value of the stamp without any charge for the envelopes were introduced in 1873. Formerly an additional charge was made for re-direction, equal to the postage paid when the letter was posted, but the additional charge was discontinued in 1877. The introduction of the inland postcard in 1879 gave a still lower rate of postage than that given by the rate of half an anna per half tola with an envelope supplied without charge. The inland postcard has from its introduction been priced at one pice (three pies) per single card and half an anna per reply card, the price in each case covering the cost of the card as well as postage.

Newspapers and packets.—The minimum postage on newspapers was originally one anna for 6 tolas of weight. This rate was lowered in 1866 to one anna for 10 tolas, in 1872 to half an anna for 10 tolas, and in 1895-96 to half an anna for 20 tolas. Additional privileges were also given to newspapers for which the postage for three months was prepaid in cash: if the weight of the newspaper did not exceed 3 tolas, postage was charged at 3 pies per copy; papers packed in bundles and sent to agents for sale were charged half the postage of single copies; and papers exchanged with other newspapers were carried free. From October 1898 these concessions were withdrawn, except that the quarter-anna rate was maintained for registered newspapers and the maximum weight to which this rate applies was raised to four tolas. A new system of "registering" publications as newspapers was introduced in January 1897, under which a "registered newspaper" of weight not exceeding twenty tolas is carried by the inland post for half an anna. From the 1st October 1898 till 1st January 1904, the inland rate for a registered newspaper not exceeding four tolas in weight was one-quarter of an anna and for every registered newspaper exceeding four tolas but not exceeding twenty tolas half an anna; and half an anna for every additional 20 tolas or part of that weight. From the 1st January 1904 the maximum weight for a registered newspaper admissible for transmission through the post for one-quarter of an anna postage was raised from 4 to 6 tolas. This weight has been further raised, since the 1st October 1908, from 6 to 8 tolas, concurrently with an increase from 20 to 40 tolas in the maximum weight admissible for half-an-anna postage.

The postage on packets other than newspapers was one anna for 10 tolas until 1877, when the rate was reduced to one anna per 10 tolas for book packets and two annas per 40 tolas for book packets and patterns. In 1878 the packet rate was lowered to half an anna per 10 tolas.

Parcels.—Before 1870 postage on parcels, all of which were registered, was charged according to distance, but in that year a uniform rate was fixed of three annas for 10 tolas. In 1873 the minimum charge was fixed at four annas for 20 tolas, but four years later it was raised to eight annas for 40 tolas. In 1880, the rates of postage were fixed at four annas for 20 tolas, eight annas for any weight exceeding 20 and up to 40 tolas, and four annas for each additional 40 tolas or part thereof. In August 1895, a system of unregistered parcels was introduced, under which parcels not exceeding 440 tolas in weight were charged for at the rate of two annas for the first 20 tolas and four annas for every additional 40 tolas. The present rates of postage, which came into force on the 1st October 1907, and which are applicable to all classes of parcels, are (1) in the case of parcels, not exceeding 440 tolas in weight, 2 annas for every 40 tolas or part of that weight; and (2) in the case of parcels exceeding 440 tolas in weight, R3 for a parcel not exceeding 480 tolas in weight, and 4 annas for every additional 40 tolas.

Registration fees.—The fee for registration, originally 4 annas, was reduced to 2 annas in 1879 for book and pattern packets. The reduction was extended in 1881 to letters and postcards, and from the 1st July 1901 the fee for the registration of a parcel was fixed at a uniform charge of 2 annas.

Official papers.—Until 1866 official correspondence was carried free under an official frank, and the departments were debited with the postage at the ordinary rates. This system was replaced by the use of service stamps for official correspondence, and the rates were reduced. Until October 1907 the rates were as follows:—letters not exceeding half a tola—half an anna; above half a tola to 10 tolas—one anna; and one anna for each additional 10 tolas up to 40 tolas; letters above 40 tolas in weight were charged as if they were private letters. With effect from the 1st October 1907, the postage rates for official letters, packets, and parcels are the ordinary rates for those articles.

Foreign postage.—Before 1892 the rates of postage on letters, postcards, and packets for foreign countries varied with the cost of transit and other considerations; but in that year the elementary union rates of postage were adopted by India for correspondence for all parts of the world, whether within or without the Postal Union. Those rates now are—for letters, 2½ annas for the first ounce and 1½ annas for every additional ounce; for postcards, single, 1 anna each; reply, 2 annas; for printed papers, half an anna per two ounces; for business papers entirely or partly in manuscript, 2½ annas for the first 10 ounces and half an anna for every 2 ounces additional; for samples, 1 anna for the first 4 ounces and half an anna for every 2 ounces additional. On the 25th December

1898 the rate for letters sent from British India to the United Kingdom and to certain British possessions was reduced to one anna for every half-ounce or fraction thereof. Since the 1st October 1907, however, the unit of weight for such letters has been raised to one ounce, and the rate which now applies to the United Kingdom and almost all British possessions, as also to Egypt (including the Soudan), is one anna for every ounce or fraction thereof.

NOTE.—Variations in the figures of Bengal and Eastern Bengal and Assam for 1904-05 and 1905-06 are due to the territorial changes in those provinces in 1905

(a) For earlier figures see the 13th issue of Financial and Commercial Statistics of British India and the 1st issue of Statistics of British India, Part III

(b) The figures for Rajputana and Central India are not Native State figures but figures of the Imperial Post Office for the Central India Circle (now abolished) and the Rajputana Circle (which has also now been merged in the Central Circle)

(c) Included in the Punjab (d) Abolished from the 1st July 1894

(e) Abolished from the 1st July 1907 and incorporated with the Punjab and Bombay circles. Includes figures from April to June 1907

(f) Includes R234 on account of Passenger Service receipts (g) Includes R14,166 on account of Passenger Service receipts

in each PROVINCE, in each year from 1867-68 to 1910-11

NOTE.—Variations in the figures of Bengal and Eastern Bengal and Assam for 1904-05 and 1905-06 are due to the territorial changes in those provinces in 1905

(a) For earlier figures, see the 13th issue of Financial and Commercial Statistics of British India and the 1st issue of Statistics of British India, Part III

(b) Included in the Punjab

(c) Abolished from the 1st July 1894

(d) Abolished from the 1st July 1907 and incorporated with the Punjab and Bombay circles

(e) Central Provinces and Rajputana circles were abolished and the Central Circle was created in their place on the 1st April 1909

(Figures supplied by the Indian Telegraph Department)

After prolonged experiments Dr. W. B. O'Shaughnessy, Professor of Chemistry in the Medical College at Calcutta, obtained the sanction of the Government in 1851 to construct experimental lines from Calcutta to Diamond Harbour, a length of 82 miles, partly over head and partly underground. In 1852 the lines were extended over 3,050 miles, and by 1857 over 4,555 miles of wire.

On the 31st March 1911, 99,611 miles of wire and cable were maintained for railways and canals, 3,591 railway and canal offices were technically supervised by the Department, and 2,577 offices were worked by Postal Agency on behalf of the Telegraph Department.

The Department supplies the military telegraph and telephone systems, it has always a large number of British soldiers in training in telegraphy, and employs a proportion of the trained men in many of its offices, thus providing a reserve of trained military telegraphists for service in war. The Department also supplies private telegraph or telephone lines to the departments of Government, and, in places where their wants cannot be met by telephone companies, to municipalities and other local bodies, and also to private individuals.

Employment of Women.—In December 1907, the employment of women in the Telegraph Department as signallers was sanctioned by the Government of India for the first time. Subsequently, in February 1908 the sanction was extended to their employment as Booking Clerks in certain large offices as an experimental measure.

Radio-telegraphy.—The first installation of radio-telegraphy under the Government of India was that between Diamond Island and Port Blair with an intermediate station at Slipper Island, which was opened on the 1st of October 1905. Subsequently radio communication has been installed between Saugor Island (closed in favour of Calcutta in April 1907) and the Steam Pilot vessel at the Sandheads in October 1905, between Bassein and Diamond Island in May 1907, and between Mergui and Victoria Point in February 1909. In October 1909 a station was opened at Bombay for communication with outgoing and incoming vessels fitted with radio apparatus. From the 1st of November 1910 all stations with the exception of those at Bassein, Mergui, and Port Blair were opened for the exchange of all classes of messages with ships at sea under international rules.

Long distance telegraphy.—Special experiments were carried out during January 1909 and it was found possible for London to work Calcutta, Madras, and Rangoon by the 'Wheatstone' apparatus direct, using the lines of the Indo-European Telegraph Department through Persia, the distance approximating 8,700 miles. The speed attained was 35 words per minute. Following on these experiments the Karachi cable office started working London direct as a normal arrangement from the 20th January 1909.

Inter-Departmental changes.—The year 1908-09 will be memorable in the annals of this Department as the year of sweeping reforms and important changes in traffic and establishment matters. The whole year was taken up in remodelling every branch of the work dealing with the manipulation of message traffic and on the 1st January 1909 a revised Inland tariff was introduced. The pay and prospects of the Signalling Establishment were materially improved with effect from the 1st July 1908, and this is the most important change effected in their status since 1865. This Department had the benefit of the advice and experience of Mr. J. Newlands, of the British Post Office, who was engaged as an expert in these matters.

In February 1910 the sanction of the Secretary of State for India was received to the reorganisation of the superior and upper subordinate ranks of the Department. Under the new scheme the salaries and prospects of all concerned were materially improved and their duties and responsibilities readjusted. Eight Telegraph Circles generally coterminous with the existing Postal Circles were formed. These are each in charge of a Director. The number of Telegraph Divisions was increased from 20 to 34 and all Sub-divisions were abolished. A Technical Branch was formed under an Electrical Engineer-in-Chief and the Telegraph Check Office transferred to the Finance Department. Some changes were also ordered in the manner of recruitment for the Provincial Branch of the Superior Staff of the Department, selections of suitable candidates having to be made from the graduates in the Engineering classes of any college in India which gives a suitable training in electrical engineering, and one appointment in every two years given to a specially selected upper subordinate. Previous to 1910 recruitment was solely through the Thomason Engineering College at Rurki where a special class for Telegraph candidates was maintained.

Telegraph laws.—Act XIII of 1885 as amended by Act XI of 1888 repealing all earlier Acts (the first being XXXIV of 1854) deals with the privileges and powers of Government in respect to telegraphs, their authority to grant licenses for the establishment of telegraphs, and the regulations under which telegraphs are to be worked. They also provide and regulate the powers of the Department to place telegraph lines and posts on public and private lands, and declare the penalties for infringements of licenses, and for all other offences connected with telegraph lines, and with the transmission of telegrams. Rules and regulations for the acceptance, transmission, and custody of telegrams are published from time to time in the Gazette of India by the Governor-General in Council, and have the force of law.

Tariff for inland telegrams.—The rates have been modified from time to time as follows :

From	February	1855	to April	1859 .	One rupee for sixteen words per 400 miles of telegraph line
„	April	1859	„ January	1866 .	One rupee for the first sixteen words and one anna for each additional word per 400 miles of direct distance

From	January	1866 to	October 1868 .	For the first twenty words eight annas per 100 miles, one rupee per 200 miles, and one rupee and eight annas per 400 miles
„	October	1868 „	January 1872 .	One rupee for ten words, and the distance limit removed
„	January	1872 „	July 1881 .	One rupee for six words
„	July	1881 „	January 1882 .	One rupee for six words or less, and two annas for each additional word
„	January	1882 „	December 1903 .	'Ordinary' rate—One rupee for eight words and two annas for each additional word 'Urgent' rate—Double the ordinary rate 'Deferred' rate—Half the ordinary rate
„	January	1904 „	June 1905 .	'Ordinary' rate—One rupee for sixteen words and two annas for each additional word. Address charged for 'Urgent' rate—Double the ordinary rate. Address charged for 'Deferred' rate—Four annas for four words and one anna for each additional word. Free address limited to six words

„	January	1909		'Express' rate—One rupee for twelve words and two annas for each additional word 'Ordinary' rate—Six annas for twelve words and half an anna for each additional word. Address charged for

From January 1872 till the end of 1903 the address was telegraphed free.

Tariff between India and Europe.—Through communication between India and Europe viâ Karáchi and the Persian Gulf was established on the 27th January 1865, and the cable route from Bombay viâ Aden and Suez was opened in the spring of 1870. The original tariff was £5 or R50 for messages of 20 words between India and the United Kingdom, which was reduced in 1868 to £2 17*s.* 6*d.* or R28-8 for 20 words. In 1871 this tariff was raised to £4 10*s.* or R45 for 20 words, and in 1875 a word rate was established at francs 5·50 viâ Suez or viâ Teheran, and francs 5 viâ Turkey. In 1885 the rates were reduced to francs 5 and 4·50, respectively. From the 1st March 1902 the rates viâ Teheran and Suez were reduced to francs 3·125 or 2*s.* 6*d.* per word, and from the 1st January 1903 the charge viâ Turkey was reduced to 2*s.* 3*d.* per word. Since the 1st August 1905 the rates for cablegrams have been reduced to R1-6 viâ Turkey and R1-8 viâ Teheran and Suez.

Tariff between India and Australia.—By virtue of an agreement between the Federal Government of Australia and the Eastern Extension Australasia and China Telegraph Company, the rates between Australia on the one hand and certain countries in the East and Far East—including India, Burma, and Ceylon—on the other, were reduced to a uniform rate of 3·125 frs. or R1-14 per word with effect from the 1st June 1903, before which the rate in force between India and Australia was 5·7708 frs. or R3-8 per word, and between Burma and Australia two annas more.

Progress of revenue and expenditure and of messages.—The revenue and expenditure of the Department and the number of messages sent, during the last five years, are entered in the table below :

As compared with the statistics of 1909-10, the gross revenue in 1910-11 increased by 6·18 per cent while the expenditure decreased by 1·94 per cent with the result that the surplus of revenue over expenditure exceeded the preceding year's figures by R9,85,271. The increase in revenue occurred mainly under "message revenue" and was attributed to healthier trade conditions prevailing in the country in 1910-11 as compared with the preceding year. The decrease in expenditure occurred mainly under the head "Signalling" and was due principally to less expenditure under office-stores during the year of report.

The decrease in the volume of foreign traffic in 1908-09 was due to the opening of the Batavia-Cocos cable which opened an alternative route for traffic between Africa and the Far East. The rates viâ this cable are the same as those viâ India between these places.

RAILWAYS

[TABLES 1 TO 4, PAGES 68 TO 71]

(Compiled from the Administration Report on the Railways in India published by the Railway Board and the Finance and Revenue Accounts of the Government of India)

The figures in table No. 1 represent the result of the working of the railways in India as a whole.

Up to the close of the calendar year 1910, the capital outlay on open lines and lines partly open amounted to R43,904·73 lakhs as compared with R33,916·89 lakhs at the end of 1901, the increase in the ten years being 29 per cent, irrespective of the rise in the exchange value of the rupee. The number of miles open for traffic increased during the same period from 25,331 to 32,099 or 27 per cent. The outlay on lines wholly under construction amounted to R720·24 lakhs and on miscellaneous items connected with railways to R121·20 lakhs, the total capital outlay at the end of 1910 being R44,749·17 lakhs.

The gross earnings of all railways in 1910 were R51,14,22,000. The term "gross-earnings" includes earnings from passenger traffic and goods traffic which are shewn in the latter columns of the table No. 1, and also earnings under the heads of "other coaching traffic" (including earnings from passengers' luggage, military baggage, carriage of horses and dogs, parcels for the public and revenue, haulage and hire of post office vehicles, special train and parcels carried for the Postal Department and other miscellaneous items), "electric telegraph," and "steamboat" and "sundries." The average earnings for the last five years under these heads were "other coaching traffic" R1,87,32,200, "electric telegraph" R8,36,600, "steamboat" R27,63,000 and "sundries" R96,87,000. The gross earnings, the working expenses, and net earnings of railways taken as a whole have increased during the last 10 years by 52, 73, and 34 per cent, respectively.

The following railways shew net earnings of over a crore of rupees during 1910:

	R
East Indian	5,40,49,000
Great Indian Peninsula	3,21,64,000
North-Western	2,91,75,000
Rajputana-Malwa	1,52,60,000
Bengal-Nagpur	1,50,32,000
Bombay, Baroda and Central India	1,44,00,000

The average number of miles travelled by each class of passengers and the average rate charged per mile during 1910 were as follows:

	Average miles carried	Average rate charged per mile in pies
First class	99·72	14·55
Second class	75·07	6·67
Intermediate	52·41	3·15
Third class	37·12	2·28

The average rate for all descriptions of goods carried during 1910 was 4·83 pies per ton per mile. The average distance over which a ton of goods was carried was 184 miles.

The railways which carried in 1910 the largest number of passengers and the largest amount of goods were:

	Passengers (number)	Goods (million tons)
North-Western	48,489,300	10·46
Eastern Bengal	39,097,200	4·25
East Indian	34,286,800	14·34
South Indian	34,059,300	2·72
Bombay, Baroda and Central India	34,021,900	2·91
Great Indian Peninsula	31,583,800	6·72
Madras and Southern Mahratta	29,505,900	3·43
Rajputana-Malwa	22,727,500	2·79
Burma	21,550,600	2·96
Bengal and North-Western	20,594,500	2·30
Bengal-Nagpur	13,737,900	5·28

The chief commodities carried during 1910 were:

	Quantity (tons)	Earnings (R)
Grain and Pulse	9,787,813	6,35,10,782
Coal and coke	13,908,171	3,85,41,284
Cotton, raw and manufactured	1,994,078	2,95,29 575
Oil-seeds	3,510,704	2,50,8[illegible],457
Sugar	1,913,621	1,51,06,174
Metals	2,150,465	1,44,81,509
Salt	2,100,821	1,22,77,391
Jute	1,484,641	93,57,417
Wood	1,598,995	56,99,309
Mineral substances	2,571,737	52,18,034
TOTAL	41,021,046	21,88,06,932

The traffic in these commodities amounted during the year 1909 to about 81 per cent in weight and 76 per cent in earnings, and during the year under review to 82 per cent in weight and 77 per cent in earnings, of the total traffic carried for the public. The total quantity of each commodity represents the total weight conveyed over all railways and does not represent the total production.

The results of chief railways per train mile run are compared below :

	Total earnings per train-mile	Total working expenses per train-mile	Net earnings per train-mile
	R	R	R
Bombay, Baroda and Central India	5·50	2·70	2·80
East Indian	4·54	1·78	2·76
Bengal-Nagpur	4·14	2·02	2·12
North-Western	4·09	2·61	1·47
Great Indian Peninsula	3·89	2·20	1·69
Eastern Bengal	3·71	2·11	1·60
Rajputana-Malwa	3·59	1·77	1·82
Oudh and Rohilkhand	3·59	1·85	1·74
Madras and Southern Mahratta	3·55	2·06	1·49
South Indian	3·42	1·92	1·50
Burma	3·11	1·89	1·22
Bengal and North-Western	2·86	1·16	1·70

Table No. 2 shews the number of miles of railways open for traffic at the end of each of the past 41 years. The open mileage on the 31st March 1911 was divided between the different gauges as follows :

Standard gauge	16,758	miles
Metre „	13,633	„
Other gauges	2,008	„
TOTAL	32,399	„

The revenue shewn in table No. 3 includes the gross receipts of State railways, the net traffic receipt of guaranteed companies, and the repayment of advances of interest of subsidised companies. The expenditure represents the working expenses, interest and annuity charges of State railways and surplus profits, land and supervision charges for guaranteed and subsidised railways, and miscellaneous railway expenditure.

Up to the end of 1898-99 the railways in respect of which Government is financially responsible worked at a loss to the State, owing partly to the increased payments to certain guaranteed companies necessitated by the fall of exchange and partly to the yearly additions of new and undeveloped lines ; but with the termination of the guarantee of the Great Indian Peninsula Railway and the development of traffic, the revenue has, excepting the single set back in 1908-09, exceeded the expenditure, the net results being :

1899-1900	11·51	„ „		1905-06	300·29	„ „
1900-01	48·77	„ „		1906-07	346·15	„ „
1901-02	126·99	„ „		1907-08	235·88	„ „
1902-03	34·34	„ „		1908-09	—186·33	„ „
1903-04	129·10	„ „		1909-10	123·74	„ „
				1910-11	302·62	„ „

The deficit in 1908-09 was ascribed to a fall in gross receipts combined with an increase in working expenses.

The total number of persons killed from all descriptions of accidents during 1910 was 1,857 against 1,931 in the previous year, and the number injured was 1,664 against 1,623. Out of a total of 371·6 millions of passengers travelling only 3 passengers were killed and 184 injured by causes beyond their control. This gives an average of ·01 fatal casualty per million of persons travelling.

Below is a statement shewing the progress of Railways in India during the last 57 years :

(a) Estimated

(b) The decrease is due to the revision of the capital outlay in consequence of the substitution of the actual expenditure incurred on the construction of lines purchased by the State from Guaranteed Railway Companies as shown in rupees in the accounts of these railways at date of purchase for the total purchase price converted at £1 = R10, which was erroneously taken in stating the capital expenditure in previous Railway Administration Reports

IRRIGATION

[TABLES 1 TO 4, PAGES 74 TO 87]

[No statistics relating to Native States are available for this section]

(Compiled from the Government of India statements showing the financial results of Irrigation operations in India and the provincial reports on Irrigation)

Financially considered, irrigation works are classed as "major" and "minor," the former being sub-divided into (1) Productive and (2) Protective works.

The most important irrigation works in India are those classed as "Productive works" or works the capital cost of which has been wholly or mainly provided from loan funds in the expectation that they will prove directly remunerative and that the net revenue derived from them will fully cover all charges for interest within a reasonable time after their completion.

"Protective" irrigation works are those which have been sanctioned in consideration of their value in protection against famine, but without any expectation of their becoming directly remunerative. The cost of their construction has been met from the Famine Insurance grant. Capital and revenue accounts are kept for all major works, and the revenue due to them, whether directly in the form of water rates and miscellaneous receipts or indirectly on account of enhancements of land revenue due to irrigation, is shewn in the Finance Accounts.

Minor works are of three classes, namely:—(1) Works for which capital and revenue accounts are kept. All expenditure incurred in the construction and development of minor irrigation works is met from the ordinary revenue. In Sind, Bombay, British Baluchistan, Ajmer-Merwara, the North-West Frontier Province, and the Punjab these works are, with few exceptions, regarded as Imperial. In the other provinces they are treated as entirely provincial. (2) Minor works for which only revenue accounts are kept, either because the works are too small or because they have not been constructed by Government which has simply undertaken their improvement or maintenance. They are credited with a share of the land revenue depending on their maintenance and are debited with all expenditure incurred on construction, extension, improvements, and maintenance. (3) There is a third important class of minor works, chiefly existing in the Madras Presidency, for which neither capital nor revenue accounts are kept. The Madras works include over 28,000 tanks and 6,000 irrigation channels, the improvement and repair of which are executed by the Public Works Department or in the case of smaller works by civil officers.

Table No. 1 shows the mileage of canals in operation and the area irrigated, and table No. 2 shows the financial results of irrigation and navigation works under A—Major Works and B—Minor Works, at the end of each year from 1891-92 to 1910-11. The mileage and the area irrigated and the financial results under the different classes during 1910-11 are shown below:

In Bengal the navigation receipts have recently suffered from the competition of the railways. The Ganges Canal, the Lower Ganges Canal, and the Eastern Jumna Canal are the most remunerative works in the United Provinces. In the Punjab the greatest amount of net revenue is obtained on the Lower Chenab Canal which promises developments due to recent extension. The Upper Bari Doab Canal, the Lower Jhelum Canal, and the Sidhnai Canal are also very remunerative. The Godavari, the Kistna, and the Cauvery Delta Systems are the most remunerative works in Madras.

Table No. 4 gives the details of irrigation and navigation in each province in each year from 1906-07 to 1910-11. The details for 1910-11 may be summarised as follow :

Early history and progress

Until 1837 no general system of postal service existed in India : there were only certain services for the conveyance of letters and parcels instituted by Government for its own purposes, the use of which was conceded as a privilege to private persons. By Act XVII of 1837 a public post was established, and the right to convey letters for hire in the territories of the East India Company was made a monopoly and vested in the Government.

The organisation of the service was at first very imperfect. The presidency postmasters, as postmasters-general, supervised a certain number of provincial offices and provided for the conveyance of mails on a few main lines, while the collectors of districts had charge of district offices and local lines. There was no central authority to secure the co-operation of the postal officials of the several provinces or to maintain uniformity of practice. There were no postage stamps, and the charge, levied in cash, for the carriage of a letter varied according to weight and the distance it was carried. From Calcutta to Bombay the charge was one rupee per tola ; from Calcutta to Agra twelve annas. In 1850 a Commission was appointed to report on the working of the post office, and as a result Act XVII of 1837 was repealed by Act XVII of 1854. This Act, which marks the beginning of the present organisation of the post office, provided for the issue of postage stamps and prescribed rates for the conveyance of letters irrespective of distance, power being conferred on the Government to reduce the rates. A director-general of the post office was appointed for the whole of India ; the office of postmaster-general was separated from that of presidency postmaster ; postmasters-general were appointed for the direct administration of the services of the larger provinces ; and deputy postmasters-general, at first designated chief inspectors, were appointed for the smaller provinces and the principal political agencies. A central office of account was established in Calcutta in 1861. The sorting of letters in transit by railway was introduced in 1864, and the sea post office for sorting letters in transit from Suez to Bombay was established in 1868. In 1875 the Postal Union was established for the regulation of the exchange of international correspondence, and in the following year British India joined it. The Act of 1854 was repealed by Act XIV of 1866 and this by Act VI of 1898 which is now the legal sanction for the working of the post office.

Letters and other articles carried

The main business of the post office is the conveyance and delivery of letters, postcards, newspapers, parcels, and book-packets ; and the total length of mail lines over which its work is carried on is 153,395 miles. Railway and steamer services now extend over 50,869 miles of this length, and the other 102,526 miles are worked by boats, mail-carts, horses, camels, and runners. The number of post offices is 18,801, of letter-boxes 48,122 (excluding those at post offices), and of postmen and village postmen 25,777. The actual number of registered articles of the letter mail and of parcels posted, added to the estimated number of unregistered articles of the letter mail given out for delivery, in 1911-12 amounted to over 965 millions.

Parcel post

Before 1854 the post office undertook the carriage of parcels at rates varying with weight and distance, and this system was continued until, in 1870, rates were sanctioned varying only with weight and irrespective of distance. In 1873 arrangements were made for the carriage of parcels to and from England, and for their distribution and collection through the agency of the Peninsular and Oriental Steam Navigation Company. In 1885 an exchange of postal parcels was introduced between India and the United Kingdom through the agency of the British Post Office. In 1899 the Indian Post Office joined the International Parcel Post Union ; and parcels are now exchanged by post between India and almost every country in the world.

Value-payable parcels

In 1877 the post office undertook to collect from the addressee the declared value of a parcel or registered article and to transmit the money to the sender. The extent to which this system is used by traders and their customers is indicated by the fact that in 1911-12—34 years after its introduction—the number of value-payable articles carried was 7,984,292 and the value-declared for realisation was ₹9,61,19,683.

Insurance of letters and parcels

Since 1878 the post office has undertaken the insurance of letters and parcels. Until 1890 there was no limit to the sum for which an article could be insured ; in that year the limit of ₹1,000 was fixed ; but in December 1898 this limit was raised for registered letters and value-payable registered letters and registered parcels to ₹2,000, and the procedure in connection with the insurance of articles was simplified, the sender of an insured article being no longer required to declare its contents. The insurance fee was at first fixed at one-half per cent, but shortly afterwards it was reduced to one-quarter per cent, and in July 1905 it was further reduced to one-eighth per cent. The gross sum for which articles were insured by the post office in 1911-12 was ₹47,56,96,193.

Money orders

In 1880 the Government of India transferred from the treasuries to the post office the business of the issue and payment of money orders, with the result that within a few months the number of orders issued was quadrupled. The value of inland money orders issued has increased from ₹4,57,08,580 in 1880-81 to ₹44,54,08,892 in 1911-12. Special arrangements have been made to adapt the money order system to remittances of revenue, rent, and miscellaneous Government dues, and in several provinces the system is largely used for these purposes. The commission on inland money orders is 4 annas for each complete sum of ₹25 with lower rates of 1, 2, and 3 annas, respectively, for any sums or remainders not exceeding ₹5, ₹10, and ₹15. Foreign money orders are also exchanged with the principal countries of the world, the maximum limit of a rupee order being ₹600 and of a sterling order £40 except in a few cases in which the maximum limit is either £10 or £20.

In 1884 the Indian Post Office undertook the sale of British postal orders. Such orders, ranging in value from 6*d.* to 21*s.*, can now be exchanged with the greater part of the British Empire and used also for inland remittances.

Savings banks

In 1870 Government savings banks were established in connection with district treasuries. In 1882 sanction was given for the opening of savings banks at post offices, and three years later the closure of the treasury savings banks was ordered. In 1882-83 the number of depositors in the postal savings banks was 39,121 and the sum at their credit ₹27,96,730. By the end of 1911-12 the number of depositors had increased to 1,500,834 and the sum at their credit amounted to ₹18,89,85,438. The accounts of Indian depositors number 1,368,939, with a balance of ₹17,40,31,224 at credit, the remainder being held by Europeans and Eurasians. The post office undertakes on behalf of depositors the purchase and sale of Government promissory notes and the transfer of such notes to the Accountant General, Post Office and Telegraphs, for custody on behalf of the purchaser.

Postal telegraphs

In 1883 many post offices were made receiving offices for the transmission of inland telegrams by post to the nearest telegraph office; and telegraph work was also undertaken by the post office in a certain number of offices. The number of telegraph offices has thus been largely increased, and out of 2,956 state (non-railway) telegraph offices on the 31st March 1912, 2,713 were postal telegraph offices. In 1911-12 the number of messages transmitted by receiving offices was 58,279 and the number of messages signalled by postal telegraph offices was 7,677,075 excluding free messages.

Cart services

When the post office was first established its agency was largely utilised for the management of staging bungalows, the carriage of goods by bullock train, and the conveyance of passengers by palankeen, mail-cart, or parcel van. The extension of the railway system has to a great extent removed the need of these services and the post office now maintains and manages only a single passenger service—the one between Kalka and Simla. Many carriage and cart lines are, however, subsidised for the carriage of the mails.

Sale of stamps and quinine

The agency of the post office is used in several provinces for the sale of court-fee stamps and non-judicial stamps. Post offices in all the provinces also sell packets of quinine manufactured at the Government quinine factories.

Postal life insurance

In 1884 sanction was given to a scheme of life insurance, whereby an officer of the postal service is enabled to obtain a policy for a sum not exceeding ₹4,000 on the security of Government. In 1888 the scheme was extended to the Telegraph Department. In February 1898 the scheme was extended generally to all Government servants, who are subject to civil rules, and a system of endowment assurances was added to the scheme. By the end of 1911-12, 27,159 lives had been insured for the aggregate sum of ₹3,68,38,576, and the active policies outstanding were 22,075 of which 9,536 were held by post office servants and 12,539 by servants of other Departments.

Payment of military pensioners

In 1890 the post office undertook the payment of military pensioners in the Punjab at the post offices nearest their homes. The number of pensioners thus paid in 1911-12 was 38,310 and the aggregate sum paid to them ₹27,51,321.

Rates of postage, inland and foreign

Letters and postcards.—From 1854 to 1869 the lowest rate of postage on an inland letter was half an anna for a weight not exceeding a quarter of a tola. The weight was doubled in 1869, and the rate was half an anna for a weight not exceeding half a tola. This weight was further raised to three-quarters of a tola with effect from the 1st April 1905. Until October 1898 the rate on inland letters exceeding half a tola was one anna a tola, but it was then fixed at one anna for every one-and-a-half tolas. With effect from the 1st October 1907, the weights of letters allowed for ½ and 1 anna were raised from ¾ to 1 tola and from 1½ to 10 tolas respectively. Embossed envelopes bearing a half anna coloured impressed stamp and sold at the face value of the stamp without any charge for the envelopes were introduced in 1873. Formerly an additional charge was made for re-direction, equal to the postage paid when the letter was posted, but the additional charge was discontinued in 1877. The introduction of the inland postcard in 1879 gave a still lower rate of postage than that given by the rate of half an anna per half tola with an envelope supplied without charge. The inland postcard has from its introduction been priced at one pice (three pies) per single card and half an anna per reply card, the price in each case covering the cost of the card as well as postage.

Newspapers and packets.—The minimum postage on newspapers was originally one anna for 6 tolas of weight. This rate was lowered in 1866 to one anna for 10 tolas, in 1872 to half an anna for 10 tolas, and in 1895-96 to half an anna for 20 tolas. Additional privileges were also given to newspapers for which the postage for three months was prepaid in cash: if the weight of the newspaper did not exceed 3 tolas, postage was charged at 3 pies per copy; papers packed in bundles and sent to agents for sale were charged half the postage of single copies; and papers exchanged with other newspapers were carried free. From October 1898 these concessions were withdrawn, except that the quarter-anna rate was maintained for registered newspapers and the maximum weight to which this rate applies was raised to four tolas. A new system of "registering" publications as newspapers was introduced in January 1897, under which a "registered newspaper" of weight not exceeding twenty tolas is carried by the inland post for half an anna. From the 1st October 1898 till 1st January 1904, the inland rate for a registered newspaper not exceeding four tolas in weight was one-quarter of an anna and for every registered newspaper exceeding four tolas but not exceeding twenty tolas half an anna; and half an anna for every additional 20 tolas or part of that weight. From the 1st January 1904 the maximum weight for a registered newspaper admissible for transmission through the post for one-quarter of an anna postage was raised from 4 to 6 tolas. This weight has been further raised, since the 1st October 1908, from 6 to 8 tolas, concurrently with an increase from 20 to 40 tolas in the maximum weight admissible for half-an-anna postage.

The postage on packets other than newspapers was one anna for 10 tolas until 1877, when the rate was reduced to one anna per 10 tolas for book packets and two annas per 40 tolas for book packets and patterns. In 1878 the packet rate was lowered to half an anna per 10 tolas.

Parcels.—Before 1870 postage on parcels, all of which were registered, was charged according to distance, but in that year a uniform rate was fixed of three annas for 10 tolas. In 1873 the minimum charge was fixed at four annas for 20 tolas, but four years later it was raised to eight annas for 40 tolas. In 1880, the rates of postage were fixed at four annas for 20 tolas, eight annas for any weight exceeding 20 and up to 40 tolas, and four annas for each additional 40 tolas or part thereof. In August 1895, a system of unregistered parcels was introduced, under which parcels not exceeding 440 tolas in weight were charged for at the rate of two annas for the first 20 tolas and four annas for every additional 40 tolas. The present rates of postage, which came into force on the 1st October 1907, and which are applicable to all classes of parcels, are (1) in the case of parcels, not exceeding 440 tolas in weight, 2 annas for every 40 tolas or part of that weight; and (2) in the case of parcels exceeding 440 tolas in weight, ₹3 for a parcel not exceeding 480 tolas in weight, and 4 annas for every additional 40 tolas.

Registration fees.—The fee for registration, originally 4 annas, was reduced to 2 annas in 1879 for book and pattern packets. The reduction was extended in 1881 to letters and postcards, and from the 1st July 1901 the fee for the registration of a parcel was fixed at a uniform charge of 2 annas.

Official papers.—Until 1866 official correspondence was carried free under an official frank, and the departments were debited with the postage at the ordinary rates. This system was replaced by the use of service stamps for official correspondence, and the rates were reduced. Until October 1907 the rates were as follows:—letters not exceeding half a tola—half an anna; above half a tola to 10 tolas—one anna; and one anna for each additional 10 tolas up to 40 tolas; letters above 40 tolas in weight were charged as if they were private letters. With effect from the 1st October 1907, the postage rates for official letters, packets, and parcels are the ordinary rates for those articles.

Foreign postage.—Before 1892 the rates of postage on letters, postcards, and packets for foreign countries varied with the cost of transit and other considerations; but in that year the elementary union rates of postage were adopted by India for correspondence for all parts of the world, whether within or without the Postal Union. Those rates now are—for letters, 2½ annas for the first ounce and 1½ annas for every additional ounce; for postcards, single, 1 anna each; reply, 2 annas; for printed papers, half an anna per two ounces; for business papers entirely or partly in manuscript, 2½ annas for the first 10 ounces and half an anna for every 2 ounces additional; for samples, 1 anna for the first 4 ounces and half an anna for every 2 ounces additional. On the 25th December

1898 the rate for letters sent from British India to the United Kingdom and to certain British possessions was reduced to one anna for every half-ounce or fraction thereof. Since the 1st October 1907, however, the unit of weight for such letters has been raised to one ounce, and the rate which now applies to the United Kingdom and almost all British possessions, as also to Egypt (including the Soudan), is one anna for every ounce or fraction thereof.

(c) Abolished and incorporated with the Central circle created in 1909

TELEGRAPHS

[TABLES 1 AND 2, PAGES 63 TO 65]

(Figures supplied by the Indian Telegraph Department)

After prolonged experiments Dr. W. B. O'Shaughnessy, Professor of Chemistry in the Medical College at Calcutta, obtained the sanction of the Government in 1851 to construct experimental lines from Calcutta to Diamond Harbour, a length of 82 miles, partly overhead and partly underground. In 1852 the lines were extended over 3,050 miles, and by 1857 over 4,555 miles of wire.

On the 31st March 1912, 102,126 miles of wire and cable were maintained for railways and canals, 3,872 railway and canal offices were technically supervised by the Department, and 2,713 offices were worked by Posta Agency on behalf of the Telegraph Department.

The Department supplies the military telegraph and telephone systems, it has always a large number of British soldiers in training in telegraphy, and employs a proportion of the trained men in many of its offices, thus providing a reserve of trained military telegraphists for service in war. The Department also supplies private telegraph or telephone lines to the departments of Government, and, in places where their wants cannot be met by telephone companies, to municipalities and other local bodies, and also to private individuals.

Employment of Women.—In December 1907, the employment of women in the Telegraph Department as telegraphists was sanctioned by the Government of India for the first time. Subsequently, in February 1908 the sanction was extended to their employment as booking clerks in certain large offices as an experimental measure.

Radio-telegraphy.—The first installation of radio-telegraphy under the Government of India was that between Diamond Island and Port Blair with an intermediate station at Table Island, which was opened on the 1st of October 1905. Subsequently radio communication was installed between Saugor Island (closed in favour of Calcutta in April 1907) and the Steam Pilot vessel at the Sandheads in October 1905, between Bassein and Diamond Island in May 1907, and between Mergui and Victoria Point in February 1909. In October 1909 a station was opened at Bombay for communication with outgoing and incoming vessels fitted with radio apparatus. From the 1st of November 1910 all stations with the exception of those at Bassein, Mergui, and Port Blair were opened for the exchange of all classes of messages with ships at sea under international rules.

Long distance telegraphy.—Special experiments were carried out during January 1909 and it was found possible for London to work Calcutta, Madras, and Rangoon by the 'Wheatstone' apparatus direct, using the lines of the Indo-European Telegraph Department through Persia, the distance approximating 8,700 miles. The speed attained was 35 words per minute. Following on these experiments the Karachi cable office started working London direct as a normal arrangement from the 20th January 1909.

Inter-Departmental changes.—The year 1908-09 will be memorable in the annals of the Telegraph Department as the year of sweeping reforms and important changes in traffic and establishment matters. The whole year was taken up in remodelling every branch of the work dealing with the manipulation of message traffic and on the 1st January 1909 a revised Inland tariff was introduced. The pay and prospects of the Signalling Establishment were materially improved with effect from the 1st July 1908, and this is the most important change effected in their status since 1865. The Department had the benefit of the advice and experience of Mr. J. Newlands, of the British Post Office, who was engaged as an expert in these matters.

In February 1910 the sanction of the Secretary of State for India was received to the reorganisation of the superior and upper subordinate ranks of the Department. Under the new scheme the salaries and prospects of all concerned were materially improved and their duties and responsibilities readjusted. Eight Telegraph Circles generally coterminous with the existing Postal Circles, were formed. These are each in charge of a Director. The number of Telegraph Divisions was increased from 20 to 34 and all Sub-divisions were abolished. A Technical Branch was formed under an Electrical Engineer-in-Chief and the Telegraph Check Office transferred to the Finance Department. Some changes were also ordered in the manner of recruitment for the Provincial Branch of the Superior Staff of the Department, selections of suitable candidates having to be made from the graduates in the Engineering classes of any college in India which gives a suitable training in electrical engineering, and one appointment in every two years given to a specially selected upper subordinate. Previous to 1910 recruitment was solely through the Thomason Engineering College at Rurki where a special class for Telegraph candidates was maintained.

Telegraph laws.—Act XIII of 1885 as amended by Act XI of 1888 repealing all earlier Acts (the first being XXXIV of 1854) deals with the privileges and powers of Government in respect to telegraphs, their authority to grant licenses for the establishment of telegraphs, and the regulations under which telegraphs are to be worked. They also provide and regulate the powers of the Department to place telegraph lines and posts on public and private lands, and declare the penalties for infringements of licenses, and for all other offences connected with telegraph lines, and with the transmission of telegrams. Rules and regulations for the acceptance, transmission, and custody of telegrams are published from time to time in the Gazette of India by the Governor-General in Council, and have the force of law.

Tariff for inland telegrams.—The rates have been modified from time to time as follows :

From	February	1855	to April	1859 .	One rupee for sixteen words per 400 miles of telegraph line
„	April	1859	„ January	1866 .	One rupee for the first sixteen words and one anna for each additional word per 400 miles of direct distance

From January 1866 to October 1868 .	For the first twenty words eight annas per 100 miles, one rupee per 200 miles, and one rupee and eight annas per 400 miles

From January 1872 till the end of 1903 the address was telegraphed free.

Tariff between India and Europe.—Through communication between India and Europe viâ Karáchi and the Persian Gulf was established on the 27th January 1865, and the cable route from Bombay viâ Aden and Suez was opened in the spring of 1870. The original tariff was £5 or R50 for messages of 20 words between India and the United Kingdom, which was reduced in 1868 to £2 17*s.* 6*d.* or R28-8 for 20 words. In 1871 this tariff was raised to £4 10*s.* or R45 for 20 words, and in 1875 a word rate was established at francs 5·50 viâ Suez or viâ Teheran, and francs 5 viâ Turkey. In 1885 the rates were reduced to francs 5 and 4·50, respectively. From the 1st March 1902 the rates viâ Teheran and Suez were reduced to francs 3·125 or 2*s.* 6*d.* per word, and from the 1st January 1903 the charge viâ Turkey was reduced to 2*s.* 3*d.* per word. Since the 1st August 1905 the rates for cablegrams have been reduced to R1-6 viâ Turkey and R1-8 viâ Teheran and Suez.

Tariff between India and Australia.—By virtue of an agreement between the Federal Government of Australia and the Eastern Extension Australasia and China Telegraph Company, the rates between Australia on the one hand and certain countries in the East and Far East—including India, Burma, and Ceylon—on the other, were reduced to a uniform rate of 3·125 frs. or R1-14 per word with effect from the 1st June 1903, before which the rate in force between India and Australia was 5·7708 frs. or R3-8 per word, and between Burma and Australia two annas more.

Progress of revenue and expenditure and of messages.—The revenue and expenditure of the Department and the number of messages sent, during the last five years, are entered in the table below :

As compared with the statistics of 1910-11, the gross revenue in 1911-12 increased by 10·92 per cent while the expenditure increased by 3·76 per cent with the result that the surplus of revenue over expenditure exceeded the preceding year's figures by R 9,58,213. The increase in revenue occurred mainly under "message revenue" and was attributed to the visit of Their Imperial Majesties to India, the Coronation Durbar at Delhi, the labour troubles in England and healthier trade conditions prevailing in the country in 1911-12 as compared with the preceding year. The increase in expenditure occurred mainly under the head "Signalling" and was due to normal expansion of the Department.

The volume of foreign traffic has steadily increased with a small set back in 1902-03 and a larger one in 1908-09. The decrease in 1908-09 was due to the opening of the Batavia-Cocos cable which opened an alternative route for traffic between Africa and the Far East. The rates viâ this cable are the same as those viâ India between these places.

RAILWAYS

[TABLES 1 TO 4, PAGES 68 TO 71]

(Compiled from the Administration Report on the Railways in India published by the Railway Board and the Finance and Revenue Accounts of the Government of India).

The figures in table No. 1 represent the result of the working of the railways in India as a whole.

Up to the close of the calendar year 1911, the capital outlay on open lines and lines partly open amounted to ₹45,006·8 lakhs as compared with ₹34,977·39 lakhs at the end of 1902, the increase in the ten years being 29 per cent, irrespective of the rise in the exchange value of the rupee. The number of miles open for traffic increased during the same period from 25,898 to 32,839 or 27 per cent. The outlay on lines wholly under construction amounted to ₹955·48 lakhs and on miscellaneous items connected with railways to ₹130·12 lakhs, the total capital outlay at the end of 1911 being ₹46,092·4 lakhs.

The gross earnings of all railways in 1911 were ₹55,27,92,000. The term "gross-earnings" includes earnings from passenger traffic and goods traffic which are shewn in the latter columns of the table No. 1, and also earnings under the heads of "other coaching traffic" (including earnings from passengers' luggage, military baggage, carriage of horses and dogs, parcels for the public and revenue, haulage and hire of post office vehicles, special train and parcels carried for the Postal Department and other miscellaneous items), "electric telegraph," "steamboat" and "sundries." The average earnings for the last five years under these heads were "other coaching traffic" ₹2,00,85,000, "electric telegraph" ₹8,44,000, "steamboat" ₹29,03,000 and "sundries" ₹1,02,07,200. The gross earnings, the working expenses, and net earnings of railways taken as a whole have increased during the last 10 years by 63, 73, and 54 per cent, respectively.

The following railways shew net earnings of over a crore of rupees during 1911:

East Indian	5,82,34,000
North-Western	3,58,64,000
Great Indian Peninsula	3,46,17,000
Bengal-Nagpur	1,68,22,000
Rajputana-Malwa	1,59,04,000
Bombay, Baroda and Central India	1,57,19,000
Bengal and North-Western	1,10,28,000
Oudh and Rohilkhand	1,07,04,000

The average number of miles travelled by each class of passengers and the average rate charged per mile during 1911 were as follows:

	Average miles carried	Average rate charged per mile in pies
First class	111·60	14·29
Second class	76·33	6·73
Intermediate	57·27	3·10
Third class	37·72	2·30

The average rate for all descriptions of goods carried during 1911 was 4·73 pies per ton per mile. The average distance over which a ton of goods was carried was 187·44 miles.

The railways which carried in 1911 the largest number of passengers and the largest amount of goods were

	Passengers (number)	Goods (million tons)
North-Western	53,559,800	10·81
South Indian	37,987,800	2·95
East Indian	36,556,600	14·89
Bombay, Baroda and Central India	35,531,800	3·37

Oudh and Rohilkhand	16,923,700	2·92
Bengal-Nagpur	14,755,300	5·85

The chief commodities carried during 1911 were:

	Quantity (tons)	Earnings (₹)
Grain and Pulse	12,225,721	7,94,82,152
Coal and coke	14,517,090	4,13,62,974

Mineral substances	2,716,809	54,15,620
TOTAL	44,367,077	23,58,32,454

The traffic in these commodities amounted both in 1910 and in 1911 to about 82 per cent in weight and 77 per cent in earnings, of the total traffic carried for the public. The total quantity of each commodity represents the total weight conveyed over all railways and does not represent the total production.

Table No. 2 shews the number of miles of railways open for traffic at the end of each of the past 42 years. The open mileage on the 31st March 1912 was divided between the different gauges as follows :

Standard gauge	17,085	miles
Metre „	13,833	„
Other gauges	2,097	„
TOTAL	33,015	„

The revenue shewn in table No. 3 includes the gross receipts of State railways, the net traffic receipt of guaranteed companies, and the repayment of advances of interest of subsidised companies. The expenditure represents the working expenses, interest and annuity charges of State railways and surplus profits, land and supervision charges for guaranteed and subsidised railways, and miscellaneous railway expenditure.

Up to the end of 1898-99 the railways in respect of which Government is financially responsible worked at a loss to the State, owing partly to the increased payments to certain guaranteed companies necessitated by the fall of exchange and partly to the yearly additions of new and undeveloped lines ; but with the termination of the guarantee of the Great Indian Peninsula Railway and the development of traffic, the revenue has, excepting the single set back in 1908-09, exceeded the expenditure, the net results being :

1899-1900	11·51	„ „	1906-07	346·15	„ „
1900-01	48·77	„ „	1907-08	235·88	„ „
1901-02	126·99	„ „	1908-09	—186·33	„ „
1902-03	34·34	„ „	1909-10	123·74	„ „
1903-04	129·10	„ „	1910-11	302·62	„ „
1904-05	315·82	„ „	1911-12	568·17	„ „

The deficit in 1908-09 was ascribed to a fall in gross receipts combined with an increase in working expenses.

The total number of persons killed from all descriptions of accidents during 1911 was 2,078 against 1,857 in the previous year, and the number injured was 1,869 against 1,664. Out of a total of 389·9 millions of passengers travelling only 12 passengers were killed and 134 injured by causes beyond their control. This gives an average of ·03 fatal casualty per million of persons travelling.

* Excludes lines for which information regarding "capital outlay," "gross earnings," etc., is not available

† Capital outlay on lines open, i.e., on mileage earning revenue

(a) Estimated

(b) The decrease is due to the revision of the capital outlay in consequence of the substitution of the actual expenditure incurred on the construction of lines purchased by the State from Guaranteed Railway Companies as shown in rupees in the accounts of these railways at date of purchase for the total purchase price converted at £1 = R10, which was erroneously taken in stating the capital expenditure in previous Railway Administration Reports

IRRIGATION

[TABLES 1 TO 4, PAGES 74 TO 87]

[No statistics relating to Native States are available for this section]

(Compiled from the Government of India statements showing the financial results of Irrigation operations in India and the provincial reports on Irrigation)

Financially considered, irrigation works are classed as "major" and "minor," the former being sub-divided into (1) Productive and (2) Protective works.

The most important irrigation works in India are those classed as "Productive works" or works the capital cost of which has been wholly or mainly provided from loan funds in the expectation that they will prove directly remunerative and that the net revenue derived from them will fully cover all charges for interest within a reasonable time after their completion.

"Protective" irrigation works are those which have been sanctioned in consideration of their value in protection against famine, but without any expectation of their becoming directly remunerative. The cost of their construction has been met from the Famine Insurance grant. Capital and revenue accounts are kept for all major works, and the revenue due to them, whether directly in the form of water-rates and miscellaneous receipts or indirectly on account of enhancements of land revenue due to irrigation, is shewn in the Finance Accounts.

Minor works are of three classes, namely :—(1) Works for which capital and revenue accounts are kept. All expenditure incurred in the construction and development of minor irrigation works is met from the ordinary revenue. In Sind, Bombay, British Baluchistan, Ajmer-Merwara, the North-West Frontier Province, the Punjab, Bengal, and Bihar and Orissa, these works are, with few exceptions, regarded as Imperial. In the other provinces they are treated as entirely provincial. (2) Minor works for which only revenue accounts are kept, either because the works are too small or because they have not been constructed by Government, which has simply undertaken their improvement or maintenance. They are credited with a share of the land revenue depending on their maintenance and are debited with all expenditure incurred on construction, extension, improvements, and maintenance. (3) There is a third important class of minor works, chiefly existing in the Madras Presidency, for which neither capital nor revenue accounts are kept. The Madras works include over 30,000 tanks and irrigation channels, the improvement and repair of which are executed by the Public Works Department or in the case of smaller works by civil officers.

Table No. 1 shows the mileage of canals in operation and the area irrigated, and table No. 2 shows the financial results of irrigation and navigation works under A.—Major Works and B.—Minor Works, at the end of each year from 1892-93 to 1911-12. The mileage and the area irrigated and the financial results under the different classes during 1911-12 are shown below:

In Bengal the navigation receipts have of late years suffered from the competition of the railways. The Ganges Canal, the Lower Ganges Canal, and the Eastern Jumna Canal are the most remunerative works in the United Provinces. In the Punjab the greatest amount of net revenue is obtained on the Lower Chenab Canal which promises developments due to recent extension. The Upper Bari Doab Canal, the Lower Jhelum Canal, the Western Jumna Canal and the Sirhind Canal are also very remunerative. The Godavari, the Kistna, and the Cauvery Delta Systems are the most remunerative works in Madras.
